Zoning Board Okays Stonaker Plan To Move Law Office to Bovino Building

Lawyer Joseph Stonaker won his case before the Township Zoning Board and may now move his law office to the old Bovino Market Building on the corner of John Street and Leigh Avenue.

Thursday's Zoning Board decision, by a 7-0 vote, came after neighbors had, generally speaking, told the board they welcomed the project. But organizations concerned with housing urged the board to deny Mr. Stonaker the use variance he needed. (See "Mailbox," page 18.)

Mr. Stonaker told the board he plans to remodel the neglected, one-story Bovino building, tear down a condemned and boarded up house behind it, set up parking on a cement pad where trucks have been stored, and keep the grassy plot to the rear of the property, bordering on Birch Avenue.

A house on Leigh Avenue adjoining the market building will be kept as a rental unit, Mr. Stonaker promised, with rents "consistent" with the area.

The market is in the Township's R-9 residential zone, a high-density zone. On the 1968 Master Plan land use map, the market is "commercial retail" and Mr. Stonaker based his argument to the board on this designation. However, under the zoning ordinance, he required a use variance.

Law offices wouldn't bring as much traffic as a retail establishment, planner Alvin Gershen – a witness for Mr. Stonaker – told the board. He pointed to office uses diagonally across the street, where the NAACP rents space, and across John where there are union offices.

"What kind of neighborhood are we seeking?" Mr. Gershen asked the board, "That corner 'works' as a commercial corner; it has vitality. The Planning Board hasn't said the designation will be changed."

But Susan Johnson, of the Witherspoon - Jackson Corporation, took another view. A majority of the Corporation's board feels that law offices would affect the basic residential character of the block, she told the Zoning Board, and could mean the invasion of other offices.

"We could be getting doctors, real-estate agents. The area could become a haven for speculators, eroding its residential character. We support measures to increase the housing supply, and we ask that you deny the application."

Joseph P. Moore, Borough resident now serving on the school board and formerly on Borough Council, told the Zoning Board he was a minority of one, when members of the Witherspoon Jackson board took their vote.

"I feel this would be uplifting to the neighborhood and in the current and future best interests of the area," he said.

Golda Gottlieb, head of the housing sub-committee of the Planning Board, was in the audience but did not speak. She has said publicly, however, that she does not regard Mr. Stonaker's office as the kind of neighborhood business that serves an area, and she has also said she fears a "domino" effect, if one variance is granted.

Mr. Gershen told the board he believed that future development – perhaps of the Medical Center – would go north or east of the hospital, not west into the homes along Leigh and Birch.

Apartments Are Sprouting in Many Parts of Town But Shortage Continues and Some Wait Six Years

Will Princeton ever have enough apartments for people who want to live here?

Starting with the five new Seminary-owned apartments in a remodeled Victorian house on Mercer Street and including the 16 proposed for the rebuilt Benson Building on Witherspoon, and the two dozen or so planned by Princeton University for public rental and ending up with the four just approved for the corner of Nassau and Pine, you can tally some 49 brand-new apartments. Sounds as though things will really begin to get better in the next year or two.

But up in the pleasant, rocky woodland of Princeton Community Village where there are 239 apartments for low and moderate-incomes, 596 families are on the waiting list for two, three or four-bedroom units. Another 207 are waiting for one-bedroom apartments.

Palmer Square, Inc. just rented a two-bedroom apartment to somebody who applied in 1970 – a seven-year wait.

It's a lot better if all you want is a Palmer Square efficiency. You'll have only a two or three-year wait for one of those.

At the Federal public housing level, the Princeton Housing Authority has 75 elderly people on its waiting list for one of Lloyd Terrace's 50 units. That's a six-year wait, dismayingly long if you're 70 years old. Family public housing, in the 70 units on Clay Street and Franklin Avenue, has a waiting list of around 50 families.

(Since 10 percent of the Village is public housing, a few names may be on both PCV and Housing Authority lists.)

Mostly, these are Princeton names, or names of people who used to live here.

"Of the 250 who want a two-bedroom apartment," says Marcey Crimmins, on-site manager of PCV, "60 percent are Princeton - related. The other 40% live in Montgomery, Hopewell, West Windsor. They keep hoping," and she laughs heartily, "that we'll run out of Princeton names!"

"Princeton-related," to PCV, means people living in town now, working here but living elsewhere, or people who once lived here. At Holly House, where all the one-bedroom units are located, half the applicants are in this category. About ten percent of those on the waiting list are elderly parents of people who live in Princeton.

It's nice, in PCV, and only 39 people have moved out since the Village opened in August, 1975. Young people can live there and save toward buying a house. Rentals depend on the size of your family as well as your income, but a two-bedroom apartment could be $233, or 35 percent of the family's monthly income. That's a ceiling, although if your parents sign a guarantee, you might be allowed to pay 38 percent of your income.

"Moderate" income is defined as three in a family – and frequently at PCV this is a mother and two children – with an income between $7,500 and $12,300 a year. Earnings of children under 21 aren't included.

Under Federal regulations, incidentally, brother and sister over five years of age can't share a bedroom. So if your two kids are the same sex, you only need a two-bedroom apartment. And if you're single, you only get a one-bedroom apartment.

"It's the old people who really have the bad time," Ms. Crimmins has found. "There's a 74-year-old woman, with only Social Security, paying $258 a month rent in town plus her utilities! I hope to get her into Holly House soon. It would be only $170, and that includes utilities. Then she wouldn't have to dip into savings.

"We now have one elderly tenant who was almost insane with desperation – begging us to take her in. She was paying out more than she was taking in, and she begged us to give her an apartment. You should see her now: she's a different person. Just so happy!"

One low-income, publicly-assisted tenant has moved out of PCV for the best of reasons.

A woman with a child in school, she moved into PCV – and public-housing units blend in with the rest, so that nobody can tell whether you are public housing or not – and went to school herself, for job training.

Apartment Shortage

She got a good job outside the area, and has now moved, leaving a two-bedroom apartment for someone else.

To qualify for a low-income apartment at PCV, you have to have more than just low income (defined here as below $5,800 if you're single, $9,600 if you have six in the family). You must be over 62, disabled, a veteran or living in a place defined as sub-standard by the local board of health.

"There is a lot more bad housing in Princeton than people think," says Karin Slaby, executive director of the Housing Authority. She knows a family of half a dozen people living in two rooms with no bathroom, although she says this is not a typical situation. The family is on her waiting list.

In the Borough, she explains, the tenant must file a complaint, and there is no regulation about inspection between tenants. Also, she points out, if the board of health ruled that a family living in such a place had to move, where would they go?

More-But Not Enough. But construction proceeds on the 100 public housing units called the Yedlin project, on Mt. Lucas Road. Won't this help? And there are proposals for 100 units for the elderly near the Playhouse.

"There'll be a lot of sad people when the Yedlin project is finished," Mrs. Slaby predicts. "We have more applicants than the project can care for: 60 apartments will be for the elderly, and we have 75 waiting, 40 are for families and we have 50".

For her units, which operate on a different basis from the HUD units at PCV, the income ceiling for a single person is $7,400 and for a family of six, $11,900.

On a Basis of Need. The Housing Authority is a Borough agency and Borough residents receive priority for Borough projects, although Township residents have been admitted. Mrs. Slaby makes her decisions on the basis of need.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week he was surprised to learn, as Council studies rent-levelling, how many relatively inexpensive houses and apartments there are.

He learned of one, he said, on Boudinot Street, usually thought of as an expensive part of town. It rents for $100 a month. On Berrien Court at the other end of the economic scale, units are $70 and $105, the mayor said, while two units on Chestnut Street rent at $120.

After you've waited your seven years for a two-bedroom in Palmer Square, you pay about $400 a month. One-bedroom units average $325 and more than one-half the efficiencies are in the $160-65 range.

Mrs. Slaby says she has heard that the renovated house at Witherspoon and Maclean, rents efficiencies at $225.

Jack Yeoman, in charge of rentals at Palmer Square, says it's rare to have any two rents the same. The Square was built for exterior appearance and apartments inside were fitted in afterwards. Occasionally, he says, an efficiency will even be bigger than a one-bedroom.

A Borough Council member, Martin P. Lombardo, has proposed that the Borough itself should buy land and build, to increase the housing supply. But Mayor Cawley has pointed to Borough maps, and come up with an inescapable conclusion: there doesn't seem to be as much land as there are people who want to live on it.

Stonaker Office

Mrs. Johnson protested that fewer than one percent of Princeton's blacks are homeowners and she repeated her concern about housing stock.

The Bovino property is too small for a house, Mr. Gershen told the board. Two properties are involved in Mr. Stonaker's purchase, and even combining them would involve setback problems, Mr. Gershen said.

Alfred Kahn, who told the board he owns 30 units on Leigh, announced that he plans to put another story on top of a building across the street for additional apartments. The owner of the building housing the NAACP and a fish market has similar plans, Mr. Kahn reported.

"We could add 12 more units to the area," he estimated.

Neighbors who supported Mr. Stonaker said they were tired of the "eyesore" nature of the unused property. They told stories of young loiterers around the abandoned building, and said they felt a remodeled building would spruce up the neighborhood.

There were uneasy feelings about parking. Mr. Stonaker is supposed to provide seven spaces. He has said he would prefer to leave one area in grass, but can provide parking there if required. In the end, parking was left to Mr. Stonaker's required appearance before the Environmental Design Review (site plan) committee.

"Those who oppose this don't live here," observed Don Johnson, 111 Birch.

"Denial of the variance wouldn't increase the housing stock" commented Zoning Board chairman William O'Shaughnessy.

Bipartisan Drive to Attract More Rateables Here Considered by Defeated Township Candidates

"Elections are serious things," believes defeated Township Democrat David Klein. If an issue is worth campaigning on, he says, it's worth carrying forward even if you've lost the election.

So he's picked himself up, dusted last week's election results from his shoulder and asked Republican Mayor Josie Hall to implement one of the Democrats' campaign proposals.

The proposal: set up a commission to get rateables for the Township.

Actually, defeated Republican Tom Haber would like to see rateables for the Township, too, and said so during his own campaign. Mr. Klein would like it very much if Mr. Haber would join with him, because he sees the question as a completely non-paritsan one.

He has written a letter to Mayor Hall and all other members of the 1978 Township Committee, plus Mr. Haber, detailing his thoughts.

Mr. Haber says he thinks the idea is a good one.

"I'd be happy to consider being on the commission," he says.

Mayor Hall points out that Township Committee has had the idea, too, but hasn't been able to get around to it with the press of sewer allocations, state highway crises and the like. Consideration of the question has been on Committees work session for some months.

A Welcome Interval. "Right now, we have a breathing space," Mr. Klein said this week, "so long as we have a commitment from the state about an income tax."

But he says in his letter that 1977 limits on the property tax as a result of the income tax provide no real assurance about property tax pressures over the longer term.

"We've got to decide three basic things," he said in an interview: "Can we do it? Where do we put rateables? What kinds do we want?

"We want 'non-smokestack' rateables, of course, ones that don't bring additional environmental problems. We don't want rateables that make the business community uocomfortable. We must make certain rateables are cosmetically attractive."

Research establishments and professional buildings are high on Mr. Klein's list.

".....but professional buildings away from the Medical Center! We should relieve the congestion around that area. Also, we should make sure the Shopping Center remains viable, and is able to compete with Quaker Bridge. It's a useful and profitable part of the town – what might fit in around it?"

Adequate Time Needed. "First, of course, we must complete the Master Plan. But this is urgent business, and we ought to take advantage of the time we have; after all, it will take two to four years to accomplish anything sensible."

The present Office - Research zone climbs up the Mt. Lucas Road area, almost on the very crest of the hard diabase that has been a rocky road for every Princeton developer.

"Allowing for our geology, we can still find enough space," Mr. Klein believes.

He would like to lead a commission with Mr. Haber as "senior deputy," he has written to Mayor Hall and Committee members. The group should tap the business community, economists, "blacks and Italians and others who feel that people are moving in on them."

Help would be sought from Planning Board and Zoning Board members. "We're not poaching on others' territory, but seeking to work out a cooperative effort."

Other Questions. Mayor Hall says the Planning Board may not be comfortable with the Office Research and Service zones where they are now, and she points out that she herself suggested an Office Research-Service zone study committee, to be named by Township Committee and reporting both to it and to the Planning Board, with liaison members.

"Land use study is going more slowly than we thought," she said. "Where should the OR and Service zones be? Maybe you want a bigger Service area, but HOW big? The OR is on hard rock, and it's expensive to build there. Is that the kind of space we need for an OR zone? Is it in the right place? How competitive are we with other municipalities who want rateables, too? Well, not very. We know that!"

The mayor also believes that the economic implications of rateables should be studied "before we go diving in and attracting them."

"What about building roads? And under the Mt. Laurel decision you may have to provide housing here for people who would be working here."

"I'd say it's probably a good idea," she acknowledged, "but the Planning Board things must be done first."

Mayor Hall and her Committee colleagues Margaret Broadwater and Elizabeth Hutter have submitted memos about a possible study committee for the OR and Service zones.

"Attractive rateables that meet agreed criteria," is the way Mr. Klein puts it in his letter, "Frankly, I have never conceived of it as any easy task, but I do believe it is doable, useful and worth our every effort."

Rateables which add "substantially" to the Township's tax revenues "clearly would serve useful purposes," Mr. Klein declares. His letter urges Committee consideration when the new Committee meets in January.

NO FINAL DECISION

On Borough Parking Garage. Although people talk about parking garages as though you could drive up the ramp tomorrow, the fact is that Borough Council hasn't even decided formally whether to build one.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley told reporters this week the decision is expected by the end of the month, perhaps when Council meets November 30. He added that everyone realizes the 100-unit Princeton Community Housing project for the elderly, next to the Playhouse, can't be built unless parking is provided.

Meanwhile, about ten members of the mayor's parking committee and the Chamber of Commerce are calling merchants, hoping to sell them the idea of signing up now for spaces in the garages.

The goal is 600 or more committed spaces. Jack Yeoman has already committed Palmer Square, Inc. to 200 spaces. Other solicitors have obtained signed, non-binding agreements from other merchants.

Agreements would be for a five-year period, with a fixed rent for the first year and future rent determined by a formula.

The final report from the parking consultant is in. Mayor Cawley speculated that the garage, almost certainly to be built on the library parking-lot site, could be either privately financed and privately operated, or publicly built and privately operated. In any case, the Borough wants it self-supporting.

"The question is – will we have the customers?" the mayor asked.

He also said that he will confer with the library about the design of its proposed addition on the south. Design of the garage and the new addition must harmonize, the mayor said, and the garage must not block out sun from the library's proposed solar-heating arrangement.

92-A?

By-pass "Go", State Promises. In the state highway game, the 92-A by-pass north and east of Princeton has always been a loser.

But this week, Donald Goodkind, the assistant commissioner for highways in the state's Department of Transportation, said of 92-A:

"We're definitely taking another look at it."

At a public hearing last month, he said the state hadn't yet decided how to approach the problem. He now says that

Wine Talk
by Archie Browne

HOW DOES ONE
FULLY APPRECIATE WINE?

Three factors govern the appreciation of wine: Color, Aroma and Taste. The visual appreciation of wine is of utmost importance, and color is one of the most attractive aesthetic features of wine. A wine should be clear and brilliant. The next factor – aroma, pleasures the wine drinker with the delightful perfume which a wine gives off. This aroma is due to the grape used to produce the wine and every different grape variety has its own perfume. It is a proven fact that the human being is capable of distinguishing 4,000 or even more different odors. Now we come to the third and very important factor governing the appreciation of wine – taste. The proper way to taste wine is as follows: First look at the wine in the glass. The color is part of the typical characteristics of the wine place name. Next, swirl the wine in the glass. This helps to aerate the wine and allows the bouquet of the wine to develop. Now sniff it. Smelling the wine in the glass is one of the greatest pleasures of wine tasting. The last step is to swallow the wine. Last, but not least, talk about the wine you have tasted. It is a great part of the pleasure derived from wine tasting.

state officials will meet this Friday to talk about 92-A.

The by-pass, on the most recent maps, goes east and south along the Princeton Township - Montgomery Township line, crossing Routes 27, 1 and 130 to a Turnpike point just beyond Hightstown.

Mr. Goodkind says it's possible that a study of 92-A might be included in a study of Route 206.

FOUND DEAD IN CAR

Man Dies Near Kingston. Early last week, John L. Standen, 54, of 303 Kingston Terrace was found dead in his car after he had run off Ridge Road during a rainstrom and struck a tree near Stout's Lane. He was pronounced dead at Middlesex General Hospital.

South Brunswick police said they would have to wait the results of an autopsy to determine if Mr. Standen, a psychologist, died of injuries sustained in the crash or of another cause.

The mishap occurred last Tuesday morning, less than two miles from his home, as Mr Standen was driving to Middletown to work as a counselor in the County Family Guidance Center. He was on his day off from his position at the Woodbridge State School.

Pedestrian Hit on Faculty Road. A Montclair resident, William B. Stalker, was struck by a car Saturday afternoon as he was walking with a companion on Faculty Road some 100 feet from Broadmead.

Mr. Stalker, 75, was taken to Princeton Medical Center and treated for contusions and abrasions of the lower leg. According to police, he was about three feet from the curb, walking in the roadway against traffic when he was struck by a car operated by Joel J. Kassiola, 32, Mill Road, Cranbury.

Mr. Stalker told Ptl. Robert Nielsen that he and his companion were talking and he didn't notice the approaching car. There were no police charges.

Car Hits Pole. Late Thursday night, two women were injured when their car jumped a curb and struck a service pole on Moran Avenue.

The driver, Deborah A. Tashjian, 21, of Trenton, was treated at the Medical Center for a laceration of the face. Her passenger, Jacque Whitehorne, 20, 7 Chestnut Street, sustained a slight scalp cut.

Ms. Tashjian told police that she had just turned off Nassau Street onto Moran and attempted to accelerate. The wheels started to spin on the wet leaves in the roadway, causing her to lose control. Her car jumped the curb and struck a Public Service pole 150 feet away from the intersection. She was ticketed by Ptl. William Clark for careless driving.

WORKING ON RENTS

Ordinance May Go. Nobody on Borough Council wants to repeal the present rent - levelling ordinance, but, except for Gus Escher, Nelson van den Blink and Martin Lombardo, most members would like to see it gradually phased out.

At a work session Thursday, Council agreed to change the control ceiling. Rent control now applies to rentals up to $500 a month. Under the new proposal, control would stop at $350 a month.

Council considered the idea of decontrolling rents when a tenant moves out, but legal counsel Gordon Griffin, joined by Alan Wallack, a lawyer formerly on the Rent Levelling Board, quickly told Council this wouldn't be legal.

David Park, public member of the Rent - Levelling Board — that is, neither landlord nor tenant — told Council that to the degree that the law holds rents below market level, landlords are being asked to subsidize tenants.

Council also decided, tentatively, not to control new units, to try and improve administration of the ordinance, and to tie the ordinance in with housing inspection.

One landlord — Jack Redding — told Council his three - unit building is worth less with its rental units than it would be as a single - family home, but Council expressed doubt that rent - control in itself is responsible.

FINAL RESULTS

In Area Contests. Legislators for the 14th District, in which Princeton is located, will be Republican Walter Foran in the Senate and Republican Karl Weidel and Democrat Barbara McConnell in the Assembly, as a result of last week's election.

Locally, two new faces will be on Township Committee: Democrat Kate Litvack and Republican William Cherry. The two Democratic incumbents, Leona Medvin and Nelson van den Blink, were re - elected to Borough Council. Helen Bess, endorsed jointly by both Republicans and Democrats and running unopposed, was elected Borough tax collector.

In West Windsor, Republicans Larry Cooper and Jay Hughes won seats on Committee, and unopposed Republicans Theodore Lubas and William Miller were elected in Montgomery Township.

In Pennington, Republicans Beverly Thurman and Joseph Wortz won seats on Borough Council and in Hopewell Borough, victors were Democrat Sal Asaro and Republicans Arthur Wright and Harry Richard. Mr. Richard was unopposed.

In Hopewell Township, victory went to Democrat Michael Arcieri and Republican William Kampfer. Lawrence voters elected Republican Mary Tanner and Democrat Robert Kusek.

GROUP SHOW PLANNED

By Craftsmen. Transformations, a coalition of 15 artist - craftsmen, returns to the Princeton University Store with a collection of designer crafts for the holiday season. The show and sale begins Friday and continues through December 28.

Seven of the members — Yvonne Aronson, Constance Bracci - McIndoe, Helena Fraker, Marilyn Garnick, Ilse Johnson, Lucy Scanlon and Martha Wright — work in clay. They will have available a wide variety of ceramic pieces, including wheel - thrown utilitarian items such as honey pots, casseroles and planters to sculptural, decorative forms.

Fiber is used in many forms. Betty Park shows fiber constructions and hand - painted fabric, Sara Prestopino provides colorful hand - woven belts, Joy Saville presents stitchery, applique and quilting, Cheryl Vernon's basketry ranges from tiny ring containers to large - scale sculptures, and Linda Berry Walker exhibits the fiber itself in the form of her handspun, hand - dyed yarns.

Graphic designs by Gary Kreger are applied to cutout wooden shapes. And two distinct approaches to jewelry are revealed in the works of Betty Ruth Curtiss which use found and recycled materials and Alexandra Wahl who forges silver.

EXPERTS TO TALK

At Nassau Inn. Elizabeth Boyd will lead a list of experts and celebrities, as the Nassau Inn begins its Twelve Days of Christmas — and More, on Tuesday, at 2:30 in the Lewis Room.

Mrs. Boyd, who manages the camera department of the University store will speak on "How to choose a camera for Christmas Giving." There is no admission charge for the series.

Douglas Forer, owner of the Charred Oak Stovery of Hopewell, will demonstrate his craft from 10 to 3 on Saturday, November 26. Cointreau Ltd. will sponsor the appearance of cooking expert Richard Grausman of the Cordon Bleu School of Cooking. Mr. Grausman will prepare pastries, salambos, profiteroles au chocolat and hot and cold punches, including a hot wine punch, brandy punch and champagne orange punch.

Sol Saperstein of Kalen's Fine Arts will speak and demonstrate on the art of prints and framing, on Wednesday, November 30. Other experts include James Beard, author and lecturer, who will speak on Christmas Foods, John Clancy, author and expert, who will speak on Christmas Baking and George Woods, of the New York Times, who will discuss Children's Books.

FAST THURSDAY

To Send Funds to Oxfam. Princeton Hunger Action will act as the community coordinator of the fourth annual Fast for a World Harvest which will be held Thursday.

Nationwide, thousands of campuses, churches, synagogues, work groups, community organizations, consumer groups, families and individuals will go without food on that day. Participants then send the estimated cost of a day's food to Oxfam - America.

Oxfam-America is a non - profit international agency which funds community self - help development programs in Africa, Asia and Latin America. Oxfam has found that people work hard for change in their community when the work reflects their own needs and choices. Oxfam field directors do not administer projects. Instead they seek out and encourage projects where local people do the work, make the decisions and manage their own development.

Members of Princeton Hunger Action will be present at all University dining facilities during dinner hours Monday through Wednesday to recruit people for the fast and to collect donations.

'TOWNSPEOPLE' TO MEET

Turner Reminiscence. Memories of photographer Orren Jack Turner and his late father will be exchanged this Thursday at 3:15 p.m. when "Townspeople" meet in the Princeton Public Library.

"Townspeople" is a program of local history sponsored by the Princeton History Project, Elric Endersby, chairman. Anyone with family portraits or pictures taken over the years at the Turner studio, is asked to take them to the meeting. Orren Jack Turner Jr. has recently announced his retirement and the sale of his photography studio.

24-Hour Cleaning Service
For All LEATHER
and SUEDE garments

by factory-trained personnel

Many owners of expensive suede and leather garments are concerned about the results of cleaning and reconditioning when they take them to their neighborhood cleaners. They know that most cleaners just don't have the knowledge, equipment or the desire to clean these delicate garments. They know that their garments will be shipped out to a "warehouse" cleaner to be cleaned in a tub of who knows what and then hung up for a week to get rid of the odor.

There is another way! Bring your garments in and talk directly to the person who will be doing the cleaning and reconditioning. We will look over any unusual conditions and you will be told exactly what to expect.

We re-oil, re-dye and re-glaze all leather garments, and because we eliminate the middleman you can save as much as 15%. Our process is odorless, colorless and non-allergenic. Our service is personal.

Do not let your leather or suede garments become oversoiled. Heavily ingrained dirt can cause permanent damage.

We also clean and reglaze leather boots to restore original lustre.

CHRISTMAS IS EARLY For Clarke House. Historic Clarke House will have some extra funds for sprucing up this Christmas, thanks to a gift from the Princeton Branch of the American Association of University Women. Members of AAUW toured Clarke House last week and presented curator Daria Bowman with the check which will be used to finance special projects and seasonal decorations for the house.

Because the money was raised through the sale of Bicentennial licence plate covers during 1975-76, it is appropriate that it will be used towards the care of this Revolutionary War landmark. The Thomas Clarke House is located on the Princeton Battlefield in Princeton Township, and is the place where General Mercer died following the famous Battle of Princeton. The house was built in 1772 by the Clarke family, early Quaker settlers in Princeton.

Mrs. Bowman is the historical interpretor at Clarke House, under the auspices of the Bureau of Parks of the Department of Environmental Protection. She works closely with the Princeton Battlefield Area Preservation Society, which has lent financial support and is closely involved in the restoration and upkeep of Clarke House. The Princeton Historical Society has also aided in furnishing the house.

During the fall and winter, Clarke House is open Wednesday from 9 - 12 and 1 - 5; Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9 - 12 and 1 - 6; Sunday from 1 - 6. Admission is 50 cents per person, $5 for groups with advance reservations. Children under 12 and New Jersey citizens over 65 are admitted free. For further information, call Mrs. Bowman at 921-0074.

SEWER TAX RAISED Borough and Township. Homeowners in both Borough and Township will face a three - fold increase in sewer assessments as a result of action taken last week by both governing bodies. The increase is tied into use of the new Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority plant on River Road, scheduled to go into operation sometime in December.

In the Borough, the annual rate will go from $3.20 per 1,000 cubic feet of water used, to $10.40. In the Township, the new rate will be $9.96, compared to the present assessment of $3.67.

Public hearing on the Borough ordinance will be Wednesday, December 14; in the Township, Wednesday, December 7.

In other municipal action last week, Borough Council introduced the ordinance linking Borough and Township Environmental Commissions. Council also introduced ordinances to: purchase a $77,000 fire truck, authorize police to put up temporary "no parking" signs, and extend the present rent - levelling ordinance to January 31, 1978. Public hearings on all will be December 14.

In addition, Council passed an ordinance increasing application fees for developers, and gave final approval to McCarter Associates for a liquor license.

Unanswered Questions. Township Committee is still interested in the proposal of Systech to use the old sewer plant, but has written the firm that many economic and environmental questions remain.

Specifically, the Township has learned that industrial users pay 50 cents to $1.20 a gallon to Systech for processing. With that pay scale, committee agreed, the $7,000 to $12,000 a year proposed by Systech as rent for the plant is not enough. Committee has also written Systech its concern about truck traffic in Kingston and in the Township.

Winterizing the old plant will cost $2,000 to $4,000, estimates Sewer Operating Committee secretary George Olexa. Committee decided to ask the Borough about sharing that cost.

Curbing should be installed between State Road and the Somerset Farms parking lot, but not in front of Somerset Farms itself, recommended the Traffic Safety Committee. Worried that this isn't safety enough, Township Committee will ask Philip Collins, owner of the building, and Traffic Safety members for a December 7 discussion.

FASHIONS ON VIEW

At Historical Society. "Fashions from Princeton's Past: An Exhibit of Clothing in the Permanent Collection of the Historical Society" will open to the public on Tuesday, at Bainbridge House, at 158 Nassau Street. The show has been organized in consultation with costume expert Mrs. Elizabeth S. Brown of Belle Mead.

The clothes will date from the 1840's to the turn of the century with most examples from the last part of the 19th century, according to Mrs. Nancy Frank, exhibits chairman. "Most of our displays will be elegant women's apparel because those were the things that people tended to keep," Mrs. Frank points out. "They were not the sort of clothes that were worn out and discarded. We will also show some examples of children's clothing."

Among the most elaborate displays will be a wedding outfit complete except for the veil. The dress, worn by Pauline Rathbone at her wedding to Peter Labouisse about 1870, is ivory grosgrain (ribbed silk) with puffed cap sleeves and a low-necked laced bodice. The ivory slippers are decorated with pearls, and the outfit includes the bride's white kid gloves. Miss Rathbone was the grandmother of Amos Eno of Princeton, who donated the outfit to the society.

Among the examples of children's clothes are two boys' dresses, one an elegant off-white outfit trimmed in turquoise and lace dating from 1876, the other a simple white cotton worn in 1906. The show will include wall case displays of accessories such as shoes, purses, fans, and even a bustle or two. There will be a "sewing corner" with an old machine and examples of dressmaking on view.

The articles in this exhibit have been donated to the Historical Society of Princeton by a number of local families, including the Cook, Duffield, Snedeker, Stockton, and Tindall-Procaccino families.

"Fashions from Princeton's Past" will continue until spring. It will be open Tuesday through Friday from 10 to 4 and Saturday and Sunday from 2 to 4.

CHORE SERVICE BEGUN

By Homemaker Service. Princeton Community Homemaker-Home Health Aide Service has initiated another service to the elderly, handicapped or disabled, The Handy-Andy Chore Service.

The purpose is to provide minor home repair and maintenance service for those who are incapacitated by advancing years or the crisis of illness. Handy Andy does for others what they cannot do for themselves.

Increased costs and physical disabilities make it difficult for many to maintain their homes in needed repair. Frequently those who have funds find it difficult to secure skilled workers to assist them with minor repairs and as a result have to live in unsafe, deteriorating homes.

Simon Blechman, a resident of East Windsor, is Handy Andy. He will do such things as repair faulty locks, door hinges, loose floor boards, broken furniture, small appliances, lamps, broken windows and screens. He will replace light bulbs, broken or missing tiles, fuses, faucet washers, frayed cords, install safety rails, curtain rods, hang pictures, shelves and other such services as requested.

There is also a Ms. Handy Andy, Mrs. Mary Harrell, a resident of Princeton, who is a seamstress prepared to do minor clothing repairs and alterations. There will include such things as altering clothing as needed, replacing lost buttons, broken zippers, mending special alterations for the amputee or handicapped and make posey jackets and other self-help equipment for the disabled.

There is a nominal charge of $2.68 per hour, or whatever portion of the hour that is used, to cover costs and travel. Clients are expected to supply materials, however, if need be the chore person can shop for supplies. Anyone 60 or older, or any handicapped or disabled person desiring these services should call Princeton Community Homemaker-Home Health Aide Service, 924-5862 or 924-5731 Monday through Friday between 9 and 3.

MAN IS CHARGED

With Marijuana Possession. Lee A. Ranallo, 25, 437 Ewing Street, has been charged by Township police with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana. He is scheduled to appear in Township court on January 19.

Ranallo was a passenger in a pickup truck that was stopped Saturday by Ptl. Mario Musso for speeding on the Great Road near Stuart Road. As the officer signaled the truck to pull over, he allegedly observed Ranallo make some suspicious movements.

When he approached the truck, Ptl. Musso reported that he detected an odor of marijuana. While questioning Ranallo, the latter handed over a plastic bag containing green - brown vegetation believed to be marijuana. A sample was sent to the state police labs for testing.

RAPE SUSPECT HELD

Without Bail. Bryant L. Taylor, the 23-year old, part-time school bus driver from Trenton who was arrested last week and charged with a series of sexual assaults on several women in this area, was ordered held without bail last week by Borough Judge Philip S. Carchman during his arraignment here.

Taylor was sent to the Mercer County Detention Center to await action by a Grand Jury.

RING CEREMONY: Juniors at Stuart Country Day School receive their school rings from members of the senior class in a candlelight ceremony at the school's Stair of Intellectuality. Traditions, such as this one, the total curriculum and life as a student at Stuart will be discussed Sunday at 2 at the fall open house for prospective students. Sister Joan Magnetti, the new headmistress, and Mrs. Kenneth Keuffel, director of admissions, will speak.

TWO ARE FINED

For Careless Driving. Two Princeton residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court for careless driving.

Paying $30 each were Carol S. Nordenschild, 24 Balcourt Drive, and Margaret McAneny, 67 Grover Avenue. Fined for speeding were Pamela Farrington, 117 McCosh Circle, $35; Pamela Berry, 80 Jefferson Road, $45; Giuseppe MiMeglio, 4202 Quaker Bridge Road, $32; Lisa Arnott, 11 Henderson Avenue, $35; and Marie Womack, 32 Markham Road, $24.

Others: Jonathan B. Jackson, 30 Main Street, Kingston, red light, $30; Steven C. Voorhees, 3653 Brunswick Pike, unsafe vehicle, $25; Roy E. Sloan, 41 Quarry Street, lending license plantes, $40; and Ruth L. Plum, 24 Murray Place, improper exit from a private road, $30.

In Borough criminal court earlier this month, Michael Skibitsky, 159 Carter Road, and Frank C. Nichols, 899 Lawrenceville Road, were each fined $50 for trespassing. Princeton University proctor Douglas Watson, Jr. was the complainant.

Michale Yates, 78 Clay Street, was fined $60 for assault.

TWO ARE CHARGED

With Shoplifting. Jerome P. Marshall, 18, of Clay Street and a 15-year old accomplice have been charged with shoplifting items valued at $33.40 from a Chambers Street store.

They were arrested at 3:05 Saturday on Nassau Street by Ptl. William Fitch and Sgt. Thomas Michaud, less than two hours after they had allegedly taken two purses, a wallet, a hat, four combs and a gold barrette from the store.

A description of the suspects was given police following the 12:22 shoplifting, and they were later observed by Ptl. Fitch.

CARS ARE TARGETS

Of Stone Thrower. "We have a stone thrower on Harrison Street," noted Chief Michael Carnevale, as he listed two more reports of stones being thrown at cars in the area near Hamilton Avenue. There have been previous reports of similar incidents, he said.

A Kingston resident was driving on Harrison on Thursday when a rock was thrown at the side of his car, Chief Carnevale said. The following day, at 7:07 p.m., another car in the same area had a stone thrown at it.

In another incident of vandalism, a Moore Street resident told police Friday that their front porch railing had been torn from its posts.

NARCOTIC CHARGE MADE

Against 17-Year Old Student. A 17-year old Princeton High School girl has been charged by Borough police with possession of narcotic paraphernalia. She was turned over to Borough

King of The Mountain

A "King-Queen of the Mountain competition for electric vehicles designed and built by students in a mechanical design course in Princeton's Aerospace and Mechanical Sciences Department will be held in the convocation room of the Engineering Quadrangle on Monday, beginning at noon.

Each lunch-box-size vehicle will have to climb a four-foot mountain of sand and, once at the top, try to push another competitor's creation off the mountain. Prof. Lawrence Sweet, who has organized the event, says that the competition is designed to teach students how to take an idea and see if it actually works.

Each of the 34 students has received a bag of materials containing things like nuts and bolts, rubber bands, computer cards, plastic bottles and a small electric motor.

The students are given basic guidelines for building the vehicles, but the actual design and construction is left up to them.

juvenile officer Douglas Watson who is continuing the investigation.

Detectives Timothy Huizing and Ronald Holliday of the department's narcotics bureau went to the high school after police received a call at 8:53 last Wednesday morning from a school official. The girl is alleged to have had marijuana pipes in her possession.

CAMPUS ROOM LOOTED

In Princeton Inn College. The room of Michael D. Lubin, Princeton Inn College, was looted while he was away for the weekend. There was no sign of forced entry, police said.

Taken was his portable electric typewriter, a set of irons and woods from his golf bag, a blue suit, assorted sweaters and shirts and a Swiss Army knife. Total value of the articles was $1400.

Ptl. Robert Nielsen investigated a theft at sixth-floor apartment of Edwin Shirley, 608 Lawrence Apartments, West Drive.

While he was absent for five days, someone entered his apartment, Mr. Shirley reported, and removed a $100 bill from his bedroom dresser drawer. Again, no sign of forced entry.

Borough police report two thefts from a basement storage area for the Palmer Square apartments.

The hinges of one storage bin were pried loose to remove two suitcases, an electric fan and some dishes. Taken from another bin in the same storage area were three suitcases, small electrical kitchen appliances and household items.

Police said that apartment residents are assigned storage bins in the basement.

MAN EXPOSES HIMSELF

In Alley. Borough police are looking for a man who exposed himself Saturday to a Princeton woman io a Nassau Street alley between Vandeventer Avenue and Moore Street.

The suspect was described in his early 40s, 5-5 to 5-6, approximately 170 pounds, heavy set, with medium-length dark, greasy hair and in need of a shave. He was wearing a hip length green fatigue coat and green trousers.

Det. Ronald Holliday and Ptl. Gerald Patterson responded to the 5:53 p.m. call.

CB RADIOS STOLEN

From Parked Cars. They're still stealing citizen band radios from parked cars in Princeton.

A CB radio valued at $250 and a police scanner ($150) were stolen last week from the car of a Titusville resident, while it was parked in a Palmer Square lot. A window on the passenger side was broken to enter the car.

A visitor from Maryland reported the theft of a $200 CB from his car while it was parked behind Ivy Inn, 43 Prospect Avenue. Entry was gained through a broken left rear window.

"Y" Lockers Hit. There were two thefts during the weekend from unlocked lockers at the YMCA.

A Cranbury resident lost $40 from his wallet and his wristwatch valued at $40; a Princeton resident reported the theft of his watch valued at $20. Ptl. John Holcombe and Ptl. Gerald Patterson investigated.

A Virginia resident lost $8 and credit cards when his wallet was taken from his coat while he was visiting Tower Club, 13 Prospect Avenue, Saturday night, and a Princeton High School student reported the theft of her five speed green bicycle from the school grounds. It was valued at $100.

TO SELL CITRUS FRUIT

As AFS Benefit. The Princeton Chapter of American Field Service will sell Texas citrus for the benefit of its scholarship fund.

Currently five students from Finland, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands and Venezuela are living with Princeton families under the AFS program. The cost to participants is between $1250 and $2200. Students pay what they can afford, and the scholarship fund pays the difference.

At the present time, the Princeton Chapter has two students abroad. Jennifer Dyckman of the Stuart Country Day School is spending the year in Espoo, Finland. Patrick Keenan Jr., a Princeton High School senior, is now studying for final exams in Rivera, Uruguay, where students take a six hour examination in each subject.

Six prospective candidates have been chosen for participation in the 1978 program: From PDS, Eric Slighton and Austin Wilmerding; from Princeton High, Liz Keigler and Stephen Wright and from The Stuart School, Ellen Spicer and Michelle Gillespie. Final selection will be made by the AFS headquarters in New York.

To support these students, AFS will sell 20-pound boxes of grapefruit (14-18 per box) and oranges (40-50 per box) at $6 a box. The fruit will be trucked from the Rio Grande Valley directly to Princeton for delivery before Christmas. Orders will be taken through November 27.

Call Mrs. Jane Lion, 921-6527 or 924-0503.

LIONS BEGIN DRIVE

In Hopewell Township. Beginning Saturday and continuing through the holiday season, Hopewell Township Lions will call on their friends and neighbors in the annual sale of fruit cake and candy. The sale is the Lions' major fund raising activity.

The proceeds are returned 100 percent to the community through group activities and in providing for individual needs. These range from financial aid to students to providing food baskets and other help for the needy and aged at the holiday season. Hospital equipment for home use is loaned at no charge, eye examinations and glasses are provided for those in need, and persons interested in eye banks are put in contact with the Delaware Valley Group.

For the younger members of the community the Lions provide time, money and participation in the activities of 4-H, Little League and Boy Scouts. More than a dozen teenage dance canteens are sponsored and chaperoned by the club members and the Lions plant and trim a community Christmas Tree at the Township Municipal building each year.

CONFERENCE PLANNED

At Third World Center. The Third World Center of Princeton University is sponsoring a Third World Studies Conference this weekend.

The conference will focus on the past, present and future developments in the area of Third World Studies, including Afro - American, Asian American, Latin American and Native American Studies, with particular emphasis on the politics of developing and maintaining a viable Third World Studies discipline within American academia today. Speakers include Abdul Alkalimat, professor of political science, University of Illinois at Chicago - Center for Black Studies; S. E. Anderson, professor of politics and third world studies; and Franklin Odo, professor of Asian American Studies, California State University, Long Beach, Calif.

Meals will be provided free of charge for those participants who register at Saturday morning orientation at 9. Accommodations are also available upon request. For further information call Third World Center, 452-5494, 924-3262 (evenings).

FRUIT CAKES ON SALE

From Windsor Lions. The West Windsor Lions are selling Benson's fruit cakes for the 15th straight year. Filled with nuts and fruit, they are packed in a cardboard box suitable for mailing.

They sell at $4.25 for a three-pound package and are available at the Princeton Junction Liquor Store, Will's Shell Station or Lucar Hardware, all on the Hightstown Road in Princeton Junction. Cakes are also available from the committee: Bill Clarke, chairman, 799-8208; Bob Dey, 799-0821; John Ellsworth, 799-1667; Phil Evans, 799-2415; Fred Froelich, 799-0269.

I LIKE LITTLEBROOK! That's what the tee-shirts say. They were designed by students at the school with the help of art teacher David Mackey and they will be on sale at the school through Wednesday, November 23 at $3 each. Lots of colors, and adult sizes, too. Models are, front row left to right: Taylor Wilkerson, Maxwell Chessler, Penny Smith and Brooke Wilkerson (who may or may not be a mascot). Second row: Mark Chessler, Andrew Smith, Ben Lewis and Michael Chessler. Directors of this gymnastic caper were Cindy Chessler and Adrienne Smith.

Hear the Whistle 'Round the Bend? Annual Show Scheduled by Pacific Southern Early Next Month

The Pacific Southern Railway of Rocky Hill, the largest HO Gauge Model Railroad Club in the state, has announced that its 14th annual exhibition will take place over two successive weekends, December 3 and 4 and 10 and 11.

General admission starts at 1 with no reservations necessary. Tickets are $1.50, with all proceeds to charity. The last show begins at 5:30.

In addition to the general admission shows, there are special, limited admission, shows at 9 and 11, and 12 noon on Saturday and 11 and 12 noon on Sunday. These special shows are limited to 100 persons each and are recommended for the elderly, the handicapped and parents with extremely young children. Admission to the special shows is $3 and advanced reservation is required.

The Pacific Southern is a large, multi-track, 40 x 60 foot layout with 5,000 feet of track, special lighting, full scenery and sound effects. Up to 15 trains operate simultaneously, some of which are 100 cars in length.

Unlimited free parking is available at the Gamma-Tech building, intersection of Routes 206 and 518 (near Montgomery Shopping Center). Free shuttle busses provide rides to the layout.

Free cartoons and railroad movies will be shown and refreshments will be available. For further information or ticket reservations call: (201) 536-3402 or (609) 921-9276.

Last year's attendance exceeded 4,000 and since the shows began 14 years ago, $20,000 has been given to charity.

CHAPIN BEGINS DRIVE

To Build New Gym. Edwin W. Wislar, president of the board of trustees, Chapin School, unveiled a major development campaign on Sunday evening at the "Chapin's Future" reception held at the school.

Parents, faculty, board members and friends gathered in the Library to hear the announcement of the goal of $300,000 to provide for capital improvements consisting of an auditorium-gymnasium building, new art and music room, and renovation and expansion of the present kitchen facilities. Target date for the completion of the campaign is early spring of 1979 to allow construction to start during the summer.

The meeting began with a summary of the recommendations of a 1973-74 National Association of Independent Schools evaluation of Chapin and an outline of those already implemented. Mr. Wislar discussed the school's current needs and revealed plans for the development campaign.

Mrs. Charlotte Kanavel, headmistress, detailed the insufficiencies in the school's present auditorium-gymnasium, art and music rooms, and kitchen facilities and suggested ways in which the programs could be improved, given adequate facilities. Mr. Wislar introduced the architect, Robert Sussna, AIA, of Princeton, who outlined the preliminary plans for the auditorium-gymnasium and discussed the other improvements.

Mrs. Wendy Field, trustee chairman of the development Committee, introduced Mrs. Lynn Jannen who, as chairman of the Building Fund Drive, was responsible for forming a committee of solicitors. Serving with her will be Board members Mr. Wislar, William Jannen, Marvin Charen, E. Parker Hayden, Jr., Mrs. Vera Kohn, N.T. Callaway, Herbert Hagens, Mrs. Lucia Hastings, John Hovsepian and Mrs. Mary Anne Hutchinson.

The parent section consists of Dr. and Mrs. James Beggs, Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Choper, Dr. Thomas Coor, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Crawford, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Davidson, and Dr. and Mrs. Gary Fagen. Also, Dr. and Mrs. Seymour Fingerhood, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Goldstein, Mr. and Mrs. David Harrje, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Natale, Mr. and Mrs. David Sommers, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coyle, and Mr. and Mrs. Vikram Kaji. Stefan Goff of the Chapin Faculty has been named as Director of Development for the school.

The campaign kick-off included an account of the Board's committment already in hand, a gift from the Parents' Association and gifts from the classes of 1976 and 1977. As of now, one-third of the amount needed to build the auditorium-gymnasium has been raised and pledged.

Let's Use Our Sunlight Better!

Today people are trying to conserve energy and, wherever possible, to use natural resources. Wasco Skywindows are right in step. Since they are aimed at the source of natural light, they are 5 times more effective than wall windows. In a room with Skywindows you will not need to turn on electric lights as often. If you are building a house or adding a new room you will need fewer wall windows, which really saves on heat. So use our sunlight better...after all, it's free

Byrne for Governor, Jaguar for Mascot

....so goes New Jersey. Political leaders throughout the state may watch closely in future years as Johnson Park School casts its ballots: Brendan Byrne carried Johnson Park comfortably, with results in and counted by 11 a.m. election day.

As part of the social studies program in this school – whose students are in the kindergarten-through-fifth age range – New Jersey campaign laws were studied, and students waged a spirited campaign for the candidates of their choice.

They were helped by the fact that Township Districts 8 and 13 have their polling places in the school gym.

Johnson Park voters had a referendum on their ballot – a matter of local, rather than state-side concern. It was overwhelmingly voted that the jaguar be the Johnson Park School mascot.

Some fourth and fifth-graders form Lila Mayberg's class camped over-night at the school to observe the tally of Districts 8 and 13. And to guard the J. ballot-box?

Young, directors of Newgrange, will introduce Dr. Shepherd, and will give a brief outline of the Newgrange program, which is designed for the student of average or above average potential who has specific skill deficiencies or learning disabilities. Those who wish more information about Dr. Shepherd's talk, or about the Newgrange program, may call Ms. Benson or Ms. Young at 921-3766 or 921-8332.

UNICEF TO BENEFIT

From Sale of Cards. The new collection of UNICEF holiday greeting cards and calendars is now available at the Cabin Creek Quilts Shop, 195 Nassau Street. The shop is open Tuesday - Saturday from 10 to 5.

Proceeds from the UNICEF sales go directly into health, education, and nutrition programs for desperately needy children in 100 countries. The sale of only one box of cards provides vaccine to immunize 66 children against tuberculosis; 10 boxes can stock a village pond with fish for needed protein.

UNICEF helps plan and establish programs that are the responsibility of the countries themselves, a major factor in their success. UNICEF's investment is small compared to that of the partner country, which makes substantial commitments of staff, building materials, local supplies, or funds. Often pilot or demonstration projects launched with UNICEF assistance evolve into national programs carried on by the developing country.

The new holiday collection includes more than 20 Christmas and Chanukah card designs, as well as a variety of note paper. For further information call Cabin Creek Quilts, 921-1278.

WORKSHOPS SET

For Interim Families. The YWCA Interim will hold a training workshop for all Interim families and those interested in becoming Interim Families on Wednesday, November 30, and Tuesday, December 6 at 7:30 at the YM–YWCA, Paul Robeson Place.

The first will be a seminar on "Dealing with Adolescents," led by two staff members of Corner House, Art Kolbjornsen, counsellor, and Shirley Van Ferney, psychiatrist. Mark Kasrel, a counsellor in private practice, will conduct the second session which will focus on "the Role of the Interim Family" and "Communication Skills." Interim families will also have the opportunity to share their experiences.

Project Interim is a program designed to help young people who, due to stress in their home environment, need a temporary living arrangement. A young person is placed with an Interim Family in the community for a month or less until, with the aid of counselling, his or her home situation has improved or a longer term living situation has been arranged.

Those who have an extra bedroom and are interested in becoming part of a team to help young people, call the YWCA at 924-4825 ext. 41 for more information.

CHRISTMAS SHOP SET

By Montgomery Club. The Montgomery Women's Club will present its Christmas Carole Shoppe on Saturday, December 3 from 10 to 4 at the Elks Club in Blawenburg.

A gourmet corner featuring frozen quiches, candies and fruitcakes will be added to the bake table of homemade Christmas cookies, breads, cakes, pies, jams, and pickles. Mrs. Helen Ludt and Mrs. Mary Heidel are Chairmen. The Family Center, a new table this year, will have stuffed animals, yarn animals, Barbie Doll clothes, place mats, ceramic objects, crocket stockings, hobby horses and personalized Christmas balls.

There will be a book table, games and prizes, a tree trimming table with handmade ornaments–and a plant table selling poinsettas. The snack bar chaired by Mrs. Marilyn Pinto and Mrs. Jane May will serve refreshments and lunch that will include hot dogs, ham and cheese on a roll, hot and cold drinks, soup and homemade brownies.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

TREE PLANTING

with Sam deTura

In the past two weeks we have talked about the proper selection of trees for fall planting. The following are suggestions for proper planting procedures

1. Trees should be handled so that roots are adequately protected and moist at all times prior to planting

2. Planting holes should be dug 18-24" wider and 6-10" deeper than the size of the tree ball or roots.

3. The tree should be set in the hole so that it will be growing no lower than it was in the nursery. Bare root trees should not be twisted in the hole to avoid girdling roots

4. The trunk should be set vertically and the soil mix (1 part organic matter such as hyper humus, to 4 parts topsoil) firmly worked and tamped under and around the base of the ball. The burlap should be removed from the sides and top of the ball and tamped with the soil mix to prevent air pockets

5. When the hole is nearly filled, flood with water and allow to drain away. Fill to finished grade and form a shallow saucer

6. Deciduous trees should be supported with two stakes inserted in the ground slightly outside of the ball opposite each other. Wire with hose covering should be used to secure the trees to the stakes.

7. Evergreens should be supported by three guy wires covered with hose fastened to stakes or ground anchors placed equidistant around the tree.

8. All saucers should be mulched with not less than 2" of organic mulch and then soaked well.

Next week we'll talk about Wintry Moths - a sign of tree troubles next spring

IT'S NEW To Us

EASY-CARE CARPETING

In New Colors and Patterns. Room decorating should begin with your carpeting because it is your most permanent decorating asset. At Regent Floor Covering and Carpet, you'll find many beautiful selections, in easy-care, long-wearing synthetics. All reflect the latest decorating trends in colors and patterns. New carpet yarns make them softer and more luxurious than ever.

The type of carpeting you buy will be dependent on your taste in color and design and the amount of traffic received in the area. Plush, Twist, Saxony -- also called short shag or splush, Carved Saxony, Low Profile, Tone-on-Tone and Shag are made by Bigelow, Mohawk, Lees, Alexander Smith and Armstrong and shown by Regent in a moderate price range.

Carpet colors follow today's trend to earth tones and neutrals -- rich browns, beiges, rusts, golds, greens and then, surprisingly, very vibrant colors in shaded mixtures; the blues and greens found in sea water; green and golds, like sun shining through leaves, or the reds, oranges, golds of a brilliant sunset.

New carpet yarns -- 10 denier nylon and blends of polyester and nylon give luxurious softness without affecting wearability. Wear-testing is becoming more prevalent with some carpet labels clearly stating suitability for general, heavy and commercial traffic. (Commercial carpets are also available at Regent.)

Carpeting for kitchens is losing favor, but bathroom carpeting is more popular than ever. Regent has a carpet made specifically for bathrooms with a gridded rubber back to hold it in place. The entire carpet can be picked up and put into the washing machine.

VISTAS OF CARPETS unroll behind Ivor "Bud" Griffith, manager of Regent Floor Covering and Carpet. Shown here is one of the rows of many colors, styles, patterns available for selection.

Services. Regent has free decorating service. Their decorator is available on Saturdays or by appointment. Craftsmen skilled in ceramic, carpet and resilient flooring installation are on their payroll and available to serve you. Regent also does rug - cleaning and rug repair.

Get ready for the holidays. Visit Regent Floor Covering and Carpet at Pennington Square Shopping Center, 7 Route 31, North in Pennington. Daily store hours are 9-6, Thursday until 9, Saturday to 5.

Hard-Surface Flooring. Quarry tile is very much in demand for foyers, kitchens, baths. Its color and unglazed natural material make it a favorite. All leading tile companies manufacture it.

Mexican quarry tiles are shaped by hand from adobe and sun-dried. Welsh tiles, made in Wales, are very thick and have a combination of different clays, which are reflected in the subtle shading of the tile. Italian tiles are highly styled and very decorative. Japanese tiles are basically of smaller design.

Murray Quarry Tile, as manufactured by American Olean, has an extended color and design line. Each of these firms also makes glazed tiles in various shapes, patterns and colors. You can see them all at Regent.

Resilient Vinyl Flooring is still a best seller for kitchens, bathrooms, laundries, because of its durability, easy-maintenance and fashionable design. Almost any decorating effect can be achieved by selecting from the large groups of samples from Armstrong, GAF, Mannington, Congoleum, Kentile.

Armstrong has a new decorating service to make color-coordinating easier for the homemaker. Each sample of Solarian has an attached sheet that shows wallpaper, paint and appliance colors that would complement the floor covering. All wallpaper sample are from General Tire. (That's right!)

Wallpapers can also be selected independently here at Regent, from patterns by Strahan, Sanitas, Contac, Schumacher, Imperial, Ben Ton, Wall Clad and General Tire.

Shades. Woven wood shades, vertical louvered blinds, in solids or with inserts of wallpaper or fabric, and Levolor or Bali venetian blinds, some with wide custom stripes, are overtaking drapes, curtains, shades as decorative window treatment. Regent will order them to your specifications.

NATURAL IS BETTER

At Whole Earth Center. More than just a store that sells natural foods, The Whole Earth Center promotes alternate sources of energy, organic gardening and conservation. It is a non-profit corporation brought into existence 7 years ago by donations from people in the community, who wanted a retail outlet for organically grown products and an educational center for teaching a natural lifestyle.

In the near future, lectures and demonstrations will be scheduled on energy, conservation and nutrition, using

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

OVER four million dollars may sound like a lot of money, but have you done any remodeling lately? Spread the cost of plumbers, painters and plasterers, builders, electricians and drapers over a building the size of PHS and you'll see why even larger sums of money have been suggested.

If you haven't seen PHS from the inside lately and would like to view the ivied towers and other proposed renovation sites, come for coffee-tea with the faculty and PTO on Thursday afternoon, November 17, at 3:00 in the Home Economics room. This is the first of several "open house" opportunities for the community to visit and see the school.

PRS has its own built-in cultural exchange. On Friday, November 18, the PHS Orchestra will give an educational concert to JW students. So that everyone can listen and learn, there will be two performances at 12:35 and again at 1 40. Parents and citizens are invited to attend either of the two performances.

THE PTO Council is "hitting the books" in researching and producing a parent handbook for Princeton Regional Schools. Preliminary work has begun on the three main goals:

1. To provide parents with a comprehensive understanding of the PRS system,
2. To apprise parents and students of their rights in influencing the actual quality of their child's education from elementary through high school,
3. To provide information not covered in individual school handbooks.

Any community member who would like to work on this project is welcome. You don't have to be a present parent - past parents and future parents may join the group.

To enlist, Please call either Peggy Cecchi (924-0679) or Elaine Boxer (921-2959).

SCHOLARSHIP aid is a most important item for many PRS graduates, whether the goal is a four year college education or technical - vocational schools. The Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation makes annual awards to students with the tax-deductible dollars that come from area residents. For more information on their activities you might tune in to Jeanne Silvester's WHWH interview (1:05 p.m. on Tuesday, November 22). Those ever welcome contributions may be made to the PRS Fund in care of the high school.

THE FINAL programs in the currently scheduled series concerning gifted and talented students held at the Educational Improvement Center, 50 Lake Drive, Hightstown, 08520, will be given Monday afternoon, Nov. 28, and Tuesday, Nov. 29. The Monday workshop concerns designing curriculum for the gifted (cost, $1.50) and the all-day Tuesday session is titled "Program Models", involving the many options in programming developed in local schools (cost, $4.00). Register by mail or call 448-0484 for further information.

WHAT'S ENTERTAINMENT? "That's Entertainment", the AA show held in the PHS boy's gym. Plan to join the fun on November 16, 18 or 19 - or all three dates, if classy entertainment is your style. The cost? Just $1.00 for students, $1.50 for adults, and free seats for senior citizens who show their Golden Age Pass.

IT'S NEVER too early to consider one's future, so the JP-PTO has begun a special project, "Careers Unlimited", to help their students explore vocational - or avocational - interests. Guest speakers (both men and women) share their experiences, training and goals with the children; video - taping these presentations makes them available to each grade - even as reruns!

Special thanks go to the parents and guests who volunteer occupational background material as well as to Mrs. Ward Klingebiel and Mrs. William Peter, parents-in-charge.

It's New to Us

natural foods. The Center encourages a diet of simple, basic food, but not necessarily vegetarian. Frozen meats from animals raised on organic food is sold; canned tuna packed in water without salt is also in stock.

Foods in Demand. Stone-ground flours in bulk are best sellers, including millet, graham, gluten, Durum wheat, yellow cornmeal, white cornmeal, chick pea, buckwheat, barley, Cornell Bread flour, brown rice, wheatless (many other grains). Whole-wheat flour is ground daily.

Nuts also in bulk, are very popular. You can buy almonds, cashews, walnuts, filberts, pistachios, and macadamia nuts which range in price from $2.25 lb. to $5.95 lb. for the macadamias.

Dried beans, peas, lentils, grains, sunflower seeds, sesame seeds move out of the Center in a hurry. Natural sweetners such as honey, maple syrup, molasses, malt have to be re-supplied in larger amounts each time.

Teas in great variety are in demand, either packaged (Celestial Seasonings), or in bulk. As little as one tea bag may be purchased for 3 cents - 4 cents each.

Everything sold in bulk provides customers with savings over the price of packaged items, as much as 50 cents-pound or $1-quart. Bring your own container for honey, molasses, maple syrup, tamari sauce, peanut butter - which you can grind yourself - and the non-edible castille snap.

Alternate Sources of Energy are provided by wind generators, solar panels, conservation shower heads and wood-burning stoves.

The Jotul, a woodburning stove imported from Norway has the largest capacity for heating. Made of cast iron, it is well-crafted, the "Cadillac" of all wood-burning stoves. The Timberline, made in Dover, N.J is a hefty, hard-working stove made of ¼" thick plate steel and will heat a 7 room house.

Both stoves serve as a combination fireplace and heating unit. The stove tops can be used for cooking, and you can place a portable oven on the square top of the Timberline. The Jotul sells for $270 - $875; the Timberline, $349 - $509.

Welcome Gifts. Always in demand, manual ice cream freezers, $40 for 6 qt. capacity, sell even in the winter! Centrifugal juicerators turn raw vegetables and fruits into fresh juice, $75 - $173. Hand operated apple presses, especially popular in the fall, $50.

Hand-cranked meat grinders for turning beef into hamburger, pork into sausage, are $13 - $35.92. Cast iron cookware, woodenware salad bowls, spoons, plates, chopping blocks sell the year around and make pleasing gifts.

The Lunch Counter adds a new dimension, putting into delicious usage all the principles of natural food. The menu begins with juices from fruits or vegetables, offers sandwiches served on hearty, home-baked bread, colorful vegetable salads, hot soups and delectable desserts.

Luncheon hours are 11 - 3, Tuesday through Saturday. Tea is served 3 - 4:30, Tuesday through Friday.

Whole Earth Center breads are baked 4 or 5 times a week for the lunch counter and for sale. Three people hand-knead 48 loaves each, per night. Only freshest ingredients are used; flour, stone-ground on the day of baking and natural sweetners. Try Toufayan Pita, oatmeal, rye, whole-wheat, raisin, triticale, Irish oatmeal, oatmeal rye, Swedish rye, fruit breads.

The Whole Earth Center is located at 360 Nassau Street. Store hours are 10 - 6 Monday through Saturday, but extended to 10 - 8 on Thursday and Friday.

ON THE PORCH OF NICHOLSON HOUSE: William Short (left), and President James I. McCord of Princeton Seminary converse about the house on Library Place which the Seminary bought and has converted into five apartments. Mr. Short, who was architect for the project, will speak on Guernsey Hall and Nicholson House Thursday at 6 in the convocation room of the Engineering Quadrangle on Olden Street. The talk is the second in the Historical Society's evening lecture series on old houses in Princeton and is open to the public. (Jeff Macechak photo)

FRESH FISH

DOCKSIDE FISH MARKET

Princeton Shopping Center (Next to the Laundromat)

SILVER HAKE STEW WITH BACON CORNBREAD DUMPLINGS

2 lbs silver hake
1½ cups sliced onions
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 pkg (10 oz.) frozen mixed vegetables, partially defrosted
1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, undrained
2 cans (10½ oz. each) condensed cream of celery soup
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon leaf thyme
4 slices bacon, diced
½ pkg (18 oz.) corn muffin mix
Milk

Cut fish into 1-inch pieces. Cook onions in butter or margarine until tender but not brown in 6-quart Dutch Oven with heat-proof handles, stirring often. Add frozen vegetables and mix. Add mushrooms, soup, milk, salt and thyme. Heat and stir until hot. Fold in fish. Cover and bake in a hot oven, 400F., 15 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Fry bacon until crisp; drain on absorbent paper. Prepare muffin mix as directed on package label, reducing milk by half. Stir in crisp bacon lightly, and drop six to eight mounds of batter onto hot fish mixture. Return to oven. Bake 20 minutes or until dumplings are done and fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Makes 6 to 8 servings

Plans for Expansion of Public Library To Be Made Public at Meeting Monday

Expansion of the Public Library is the topic for a special meeting Monday night at 8 sponsored by the Friends of the Princeton Public Library. It will be held in the Library's meeting room where diagrams of the proposed additions will be on view and members of the board of trustees will be available for questions.

The Library, located in Bainbridge House from its founding in 1909 until its move to Witherspoon Street in 1966, has experienced steady increases in circulation, registrations, and services. At the end of 1976 over 20,000 residents actively used the Library, borrowing over 386,000 books during the year.

The proposed plans for expansion include extending the existing two floors 26 feet beyond the present building and adding an entirely new third floor. These additions would yield 14,000 square feet of space for additional public seating, book shelves, quiet study rooms, and audio visual work and storage areas. The children's department would gain an additional 1,800 square feet.

Library users are invited to attend the meeting to learn more about the proposed additions and to ask questions.

Grateful for Everyone's Help.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Would you help me take time in your paper to thank everyone who has come forward in my hour of need.

My neighbors are always there. The Rescue Squad who took me to the Hospital, the police who answered my call so promptly that they were at my home by the time I put the phone down and went outside again.

The Fire Department who exercised their job with such expertise that only one house was destroyed and no more.

Though we go through material tragedies, I think everyone will agree with me that there is nothing in this world that we can't lose and not work and replace, except our breath.

Though I had a stay in the hospital, everyone saw to it that I lost only material things, not my children or any loved ones.

Thank you again. A Grateful
WILLIE MAE TADLOCK
(Mrs. Joseph W. Tadlock)
29 Green Street

Editor's Note: The Tadlock home was severely burned by fire on November 1.

Letter on Schools Refuted.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Mark Jones, writing in the November 9th TOWN TOPICS, appears to believe that members of the Princeton Regional Administrators' Association (the administrators' "union" of the Princeton Regional Schools) bargain with other members of the same association for the salaries paid them by the Board of Education. This is not the case.

First, the central administrators of our schools – Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent, Business Administrator and Secretary - are not members of the association.

Second, salary bargaining takes place between the Princeton Regional Board of Education and the Administrators Association. The Board is represented in this process by a committee of Board members. After this committee has negotiated salaries and other matters as required under the New Jersey Employer-Employee Relations Act, the contract must be ratified by the entire Board. The Board is extremely conscious of its responsibilities in representing the community and keeping the costs as low as possible.

Mr. Jones also chose to comment on the goals and objectives of the Princeton Regional Schools. The goals were developed by a large committee including many citizens. Mr. Jones was a member of that committee.

For the Princeton Regional Board of Education
WM. K. EVANS
Secretary to the Board

Zoning Decision Questioned.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Princeotn community should understand some of the implications of the Zoning Board decision to grant a use variance to Joseph Stonaker for a law office on John Street, bordered by Birch and Leigh Avenues. Stonaker argued that the change of use from commercial service to office was unimportant because both were commercial uses and, was even beneficial, because office uses are "less intensive" than retail uses.

This argument ignores certain planning and zoning goals which until now have been considered of primary importance. The 1968 Master Plan designated the area a residential neighborhood. However, existing commercial structures were retained as retail uses, presumably to cater to neighborhood needs. In 1972, the governing body strengthened the neighborhood's residential character by re-zoning the entire area residential (R-9) and making the existing retail uses non-conforming uses. A non-conforming use is normally not expanded.

The policy made by the governing body in 1972, which is implicit in the zoining ordinance, was designed to conserve single-family housing ownership in a low-cost housing area. Why has this policy been changed? Why was the zone plan assumed to be an out-dated master plan when it had been superceded by a zoning ordinance that would have made the use variance much more difficult to justify?

Even conceding the legitimacy of an existing neighborhood retail use, why was there no discussion of the possibility that an office use in the midst of a residential zone might be substantially different in character from a corner store and detrimental to the purpose of that zone?

The Zoning Board was required by the New Jersey Municipal Land Use Law to find that the variance did not "substantially impair the intent and purpose of the zone plan and zoning ordinance." The unanimous vote of the Board and the preceding cursory discussion implies that an office use in a residential neighborhood is not unusual and may even be beneficial to the neighborhood's residential character. In what other residential neighborhood in Princeton Township would such a use be permitted?

The proceedings made two points very clear. The abandoned and boarded-up house is a community eyesore, a nuisance, and probably a health hazard. Why was it not condemned and torn down years ago? Also, it seemed that every lot in the zone is undersized and that building a new residential sturcture on those lots would require a "hardship" variance. That is no reason to grant a "use" variance for the first abandoned structure.

Canned Goods Sought

The Princeton Circle of The Florence Crittenton Home will conduct its 67th Thanksgiving Food Drive for the Home from Thursday through Wednesday.

Contributions of canned goods and other non-perishable foods will be welcome. Containers will be placed in the A & P, Nassau Delicatessen, Princeton Day, St. Paul's, and Stuart Country Day schools.

The Home, which is located in Trenton, has been serving the unwed mother for 82 years with no restrictions of race or creed.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 20 cents

It is true that the residents of the area in attendance at the meeting spoke in favor of granting the variance. There were several local residents, however, who authorized a statement against it, but these were not the people who spoke. Increase in property values to existing owners or good personal relations are insufficient reasons to grant a variance. Friendship and profit have their place, but not in a zoning ordinance.

A zoning ordinance must reflect the wider-neighborhood interest and pursue the goals of the community as a whole. A Zoning Board must consider the effect of the variance on nearby properties. But nearby property-owners will not always agree that the desired effect for the community is beneficial to them.

If Princeton Township still maintains a policy of encouraging low-cost home ownership, then I think the Zoning Board's decision undermined that policy. A variance for office use in a residential zone increases the possibility that more office uses will appear. And because they are more profitable than small single-family homes, such a variance discourages the maintenance of a single-family residential district.

Thanks from Leona Medvin.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Once again, my sincere thanks to those who expressed their trust and confidence in my ability to continue as a member of Borough Council.

As I walked through the Borough and rang over 1,000 doorbells, I was received graciously by voters of all persuasions. I want them to be assured that I intend to continue to bring an open mind to the problems that Borough Council continues to face.

The successful conclusion of the past election must also be attributed to the superb efforts of a small group of dedicated Democratic campaign workers who gave unstintingly of their time and energy.

In the coming years, I will try as best I can to reflect the concerns of all the wonderful people of this community, and hope they will continue to bring those concerns to my attention.

LEONA MEDVIN

Our Wrist Is Slapped.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

As I read the coverage of the recent election in your newspaper I fail to find any mention of the election of Helen Bess as Princeton Borough Tax Collector.

I grant that she ran unopposed for the office, but I do feel it only courteous and considerate not only to Mrs. Bess, but to your readers to mention her victory. An informed public is basic to the success of a participatory democracy, and the press must be encouraged to present lively and complete coverage of matters that concern us all.

ARCHITECTS CITED

By Jersey Society. Four architectural designs by Princeton architects, two of buildings completed and two of structures in preliminary stages, have been cited as the best examples of design in New Jersey this year. The citations and awards that followed were made at the recent annual convention of the New Jersey Society of Architects.

Winning designs, and their architects, of completed projects were the Multiphastic Diagnostic Center City of Jersey City, by the Hillier Group, AIA, and Trenton State College campus community center, by Collins, Uhl, Hoisington, Anderson, AIA.

Winners of preliminary projects were a private residence in Princeton, by Michael Graves, AIA, and Eden Institute for Autistic Children, a design for the re-use of St. Andrews Church sanctuary, by Peter Waldman, AIA.

The designs, hung on panels at the NJSA conclave, were judged by William N. Breger, AIA, and Ulrich Franzen, FAIA, both of New York, and by Joe J. Jordan, FAIA, of Philadelphia. They and 13 others exhibited at the convention that were deemed meritorious have been selected for an exhibition now open at the N.J. State Museum, Trenton, that will run through December 18. The hours are Monday - Friday from 9 to 4:45 and Saturday - Sunday, 1 - 4:45. The public is invited.

The other designs, with the architects listed first, are Clarke, Travisano and Douglas Kelbaugh, Calhoun Street Firehouse, Trenton; Collins, Uhl, Hoisington, Anderson, a sports complex in Saudi Arabia; Geddes, Brecher, Qualls, Cunningham, Liberty State Park Terminal renovation and restoration, Jersey City; and Michael Graves, Chem - Fleur, Inc., factory renovation and addition, Newark.

Also, Douglas Kelbaugh, the Kelbaugh residence on Pine Street, and Peter Waldman, an addition to a residence in Milltown. The exhibition will include models of the Eden Institute and a residence in Hopewell by Sussna Design Office, AIA.

MARKS FIRST YEAR

Growth Noted. New Jersey Monthly Magazine celebrated its first anniversary with a cocktail party at the corporate offices, 1101 State Road. Approximately 250 writers, advisors, friends and sponsors attended.

Hendrix Neimann, publisher, said the party was held to celebrate "extraordinary growth" during the first year. "Since our first issue in November, 1976," he said, "the magazine has swelled from 30 ad pages to 62 in the current issue, and staff has almost doubled, as has circulation — from 55,000 to 100,000 today. By our second anniversary, New Jersey Monthly should be a 168 - page book with 100 pages of ads."

BUSINESS NOTES

The New Jersey School Boards Association in Trenton, the professional organization representing all 611 school boards in the state, has retained Schultz - Princeton Associates, 37 Station Drive, Princeton Junction, as consultant to its Communications Department. The advertising and public relations agency already had been serving the NJSBA on special projects and its sales subsidiary, AdRep Services, was appointed previously as advertising representative for the Association's monthly magazine, "School Leader."

Mort Barish Associates is the new advertising agency for Belmont Equipment, Somerset, a $300 million manufacturer of dental operatory and related health care equipment. The agency will create advertising and public relations programs directed to the practitioner, as well as devise marketing strategies to aid and increase Belmont's network of dealers throughout the country.

Public relations and direct mail efforts will be time and site coordinated with the many dental meetings held during the year in different parts of the country. Ads are directed to three markets and the media schedule includes magazines directed to these — the practitioner, schools and students, and dental equipment dealers.

Metromation, Inc., 1101 State Road, has received a $2 million contract from Maraven S.A. for a Metromation FLIC 3-90 System to be used for refinery information and management at Maraven's 300,000 barrels - per - day Cardon refinery at Punto Fijo, Venezuela.

Applications will include monitoring Maraven's plant - production data, unit - operation data, and process efficiency, as well as monitoring laboratory data, and tank - loading and inventory data. The system includes an EDP link to the company's IBM-370 computer in Caracas. Delivery is scheduled for next summer.

George J. Schultz

George J. Schultz, head of Schultz -- Princeton Associates, advertising and public relations agency at 37 Station Drive, Princeton Junction, is the author-editor of "Foreign Trade Marketplace" published recently be Gale Research Co., Detroit.

The hardcover book contains 662 pages of text and directory material to guide American firms in export and import trade. Seven narrative chapters describe procedures and strategy and are keyed to 35 directory sections that list resources, standards and facilities normally used or required in foreign commerce.

How will the new tax proposals affect investment values?

What will be the impact of the elimination of the capital gains differential—if enacted?

Of the reduction of the tax-rate dividend income—of the corporate tax rate—of the maximum tax rate on unearned income?

This 16-page report addresses itself to these and many other important questions. The entire issue is packed with facts and figures. Designed to help map out your investment strategy for the months ahead.

Investment opportunities

You also get our latest opinion of what we think are attractive buys.

This could include not just the traditional blue chips. But also over-the-counter stocks. Stocks with generous current dividends. Or tax-free municipals. Money markets.

Senator Clifford P. Case reports to you

Economic Sanctions Urged against Nations Providing Aid to International Terrorists

International terrorism continues to plague the world. The scope of the problem is staggering.

When the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Foreign Assistance held hearings on the issue in September, a staff study found that about 180 groups around the world "claimed responsibility" for acts of terrorism. At least some of the groups, ranging from the "Red Army" to the Palestinian and German terrorists, have been collaborating in an informal network.

Figures compiled by the CIA indicated that between 1968 and 1976, there were more than 1,150 acts of international terrorism, with at least 391 involving U.S. citizens or property. About 800 persons have been killed and another 1,700 wounded in the various incidents. A Library of Congress summary of terrorist and terrorist-related developments since 1969 covers 23 single spaced pages.

Most recently, there was the six-day hijacking ordeal in which the passengers of a Japan Air Lines plane were finally taken to Algeria and freed October 2 in exchange for the release of six colleagues of the Japanese "Red Army" terrorists and a $15 million ransom. The terrorists were reported to have been released from custody by Algeria.

Pilot Killed. On the heels of that incident, a West German Lufthansa airliner was hijacked by four persons – apparently Palestinians -- and taken to Somalia. There, after a grueling ordeal from the passengers and the execution of the pilot by the hijackers, the passengers were freed in a commando attack October 18 by a specially trained unit of West German police.

That operation has been compared with the daring July, 1976 rescue by Israel of passengers of an Air France jet hijacked to Entebbe, Uganda. But there was one important and hopeful difference. At Entebbe, Ugandan dictator Idi Amin had supported the terrorists, even using his troops to guard the passengers.

In Somalia the government assisted the German rescue, reversing, at least in this instance, its prior policy supportive of terrorism.

It may be that other nations which have assisted terrorist groups in the past are coming to realize that they too are vulnerable. For example, there have been a number of assassination attempts recently against Syrian officials.

Action Grows. In the western world, there has been growing cooperation. The United States and its European allies and Israel have been exchanging information on training and counter-terror techniques. The Pentagon recently disclosed the training of special military units for rescue missions.

But the key problem remains – how to prevent the incidents from happening in the first place. The United Nations and the authorities controlling airports and airline traffic have got to tighten security procedures.

There is no easy or direct way to exert pressure on some of the nations which aid and abet terrorists -- they do not receive foreign aid from us. But we must continue doing what we can to ostracize them; if necessary, paying the price of reduced trade and profits to close off havens for terrorists.

We also should give serious consideration to having the U.S. government issue travel advisories warning of airports which do not meet security standards. The possible impact on the local tourist trade might help to prod negligent governments into enforcing security precautions. Another proposal, which I joined in sponsoring, would permit suspension of commercial air service to countries which aid and abet terrorists.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee and other Congressional committees already have held preliminary hearings on these and other proposals with a view to passage of new legislation next year. It will be none too soon.

PDS STUDENTS PROTEST

Actions in South Africa. The Community Council of Princeton Day School has unanimously adopted a statement protesting the recent actions of the South African government. Some 86 students, 21 faculty members and trustee Henry Drewry signed a petition before it was brought before the school's governing body.

Edward B. Foley of 4664 Province Line Road who wrote the statement said that Prof. Drewry was "instrumental in informing the Princeton Day School student body of the conditions in South Africa." The statement asserts that "the events of October 19, 1977, in which the basic freedoms of the press, speech and assembly have been abolished, violate all our conceptions of human dignity and decency."

AUTHORS VISIT CLASSES

At Riverside School. In celebration of National Children's Book Week, Riverside School, with the help of the PTO, has organized daily visits by authors to different classes.

Keith Robertson, author of the Henry Reed stories and "Myrtle the Turtle," is scheduled to visit the second through fifth grades on Thursday. On Friday Fred Bauer, who wrote "How Many Hills to Hillsboro?" will address the entire school. Other authors who visited earlier in the week include Anita Benarde, Ann Waldron, Elizabeth H Johnson and Martha L. Stohlman, as well as Anne Reeves, director of the Arts Council, who talked about "the olden times" and showed examples of books used in early schools.

Enlargements of illustrations from Alvin Schwartz' book "Stores" are on display along with colorful posters of perennial favorites and books written by parents of children at Riverside. Following Book Week, a children's book swap will be held Monday through Wednesday.

Rachel Gray is Riverside PTO president, and Alison Hankinson as PTO library chairman has organized the activities.

LEAFLET AVAILABLE

With Advice on Poison. The Princeton Chapter of the Red Cross is offering families a folder containing new advice on first aid for poisoning, according to George Hunt, chairman of the Chapter first aid committee.

"Family members should know what to do and what NOT to do if someone swallows something harmful or potentially fatal," he said. "Our folder contains the latest first aid information on poisoning from the National Academy of Sciences National Research Council," Hunt explained. "It is printed on one side only and can be posted on the medicine cabinet, in the kitchen or near a telephone."

The folder also has space for listing the telephone numbers of the Poison Control Center at the Princeton Medical Center and the number of the local rescue squad. Mr. Hunt noted that the latest medical findings from the Academy indicate that vomiting should NOT be induced in a person who has swallowed poison, unless the Poison Control Center or a physician so advises. The Red Cross folder cautions against relying on first aid advice found on container labels.

Such advice MAY be incorrect, he said, adding that advice should be sought from the Poison Control Center or a physician. The folder also offers first aid for both conscious and unconscious victims of poisoning together with procedures for handling convulsions and for giving first aid in isolated areas such as campsites.

The leaflet may be picked up at the Red Cross chapter office, 182 North Harrison Street, or may be obtained by sending a stamped and self addressed business size envelope to the Red Cross.

ADMISSIONS IS TOPIC

Of Cottey College Tea. Ann Ploetz, an admissons counselor for Cottey College, Neveda, Mo. will visit Princeton on Tuesday, November 29. High school counselors, as well as interested students and parents, are invited to meet Miss Ploetz at a tea to be held in the home of Mrs. Robert Steiner. Anyone interested in learning more about Cottey College and desiring to attend the afternoon tea should call Nancy Griffin at 924-4690.

Cottey College was founded in 1884 by Virginia Alice Cottey, a pioneer woman educator. It is owned and supported by the P.E.O Sisterhood, an organization of 200,000 women dedicated to providing educational opportunities for women.

Milton Babbitt, Conant Professor of Music at Princeton University, has been appointed to the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation Committee in the Library of Congress.

The Coolidge Foundation was established by Mrs. Coolidge in 1925 with an endowment for the promotion and advancement of chamber music through commissions, public concerts, and festivals. The committee is composed of the Librarian of Congress and the chief of the Music Division, and a third member appointed by them.

Prof. Babbitt, who has been a member of the Princeton faculty since 1938, is a composer and leading writer on music theory as it applies to the music of Arnold Schoenberg and his successors. He also is one of the principal composers to have used the Columbia - Princeton Mark II synthesizer, the first large - scale American machine designed for the production of electronic music.

Prof. Julian P. Boyd of Titusville, Professor Emeritus of History at Princeton University, has been appointed an Honorary CBE (Commander in the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire) by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, it was last week announced by the British Embassy in Washington.

The award is in recognition of Professor Boyd's long - time friendship for Britain and his participation in the generous purchase and donation to the British Government by a group of Americans of the Battle Abbey Estate. The Estate, which includes the site of the Battle of Hastings, 1066, was bought at auction in June 1976 for 690,000 pounds by the Department of the Environment with the help of money from the United States.

Prof. Boyd was educated at Duke University. He came to Princeton as university librarian in 1940, receiving his appointment as Professor of History in 1952. In 1945 he published "The Declaration of Independence: The Evolution of the Text." Growing out of that work came the project which has occupied Professor Boyd ever since — the assembly and editing of the 50 - volume "Papers of Thomas Jefferson." This work has been described by his colleagues as "one of the great scholarly and editorial projects in America of this century."

Three area residents were members of the Bowdoin College 1977 varsity men's soccer team which posted a 4-2-5 record. They are sophmore Tom Moore of 21 Hun Road and freshman, John Hickling of 6 Lemore Circle, Rocky Hill, both graduates of Princeton Day School, and freshman Dave Barnes of 8 Merion Place, Lawrenceville, a graduate of the Lawrenceville School.

Constance Greiff of 17 Clover Lane, a consultant on preservation of historic buildings, is one of four persons involved in the formation of a non-profit Historic House Organization planned by the National Trust for Historic Preservation. The non-profit membership association is expected to represent the interests of private owners of historic houses and other buildings. It was one of the recommendations of a two year study which Mrs. Greiff carried out for the National Trust to learn the problems of private owners of National Historic Landmarks.

Moore Gates Jr. of 96 Hun Road, a senior vice president of the United States Trust Company of New York City, is involved in fund-raising activities on behalf of the Boys' Clubs of America. He serves as national treasurer chairman of the foundations committee and member of the executive committee of the Boys' Clubs.

Navy Airman Recruit Deirdre C. O'Hara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew R. O'Hara III of 29 Cherrybrook Drive, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Orlando, Fla. She joined the Navy in August 1977.

Sunday Reception to Honor Interim Minister Of First Presbyterian Church in Plainsboro

The First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro has a new interim pastor, the Rev. Lloyd Alamsha. And in three years the Presbyterian ministry will have a newly-ordained minister, his wife, Marilyn, who has come to Princeton Seminary as a full time student.

The couple will be honored by a reception Sunday from 2:30 to 5 in the parish hall of the church on Plainsboro Road. The interim pastor succeeds the Rev. Charles Weaver who left last February to become pastor of Clarendon Presbyterian Church in Falls Church, Va., after serving some nine years. Guest ministers have supplied the pulpit until the Alamshas arrived in early September.

The Rev. Lloyd Alamsha and Mrs. Alsmaha

Mr. Alamsha has a background which includes 10 years of church ministry and seven years of vocational guidance and secondary school teaching. A 1958 graduate of the University of Dubuque, Iowa, who received his M.Div. degree from Dubuque Seminary, Mr. Alamsha is a fifth generation pastor. His grandfather served as a missionary to Assyrians and his father was born in Iran.

He was ordained in the Chicago Presbytery in 1960 and served in churches in Des Moines, Iowa, and Columbus, Ohio, before becoming assistant pastor and then pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church in Stow, Ohio.

Work With Disadvantaged Youth. In 1970 he gave up the full time ministry to enter the school system in Stow in a pilot program for disadvantaged youth. He was coordinator for 25 drop-out prone junior high school students in an occupational work adjustment program which combined work and study. Mr. Alamsha also taught his charges physics, history or language arts, depending on what was needed.

During these years he also did volunteer work in a mental health counseling center, particularly with alcohol and drug addiction. He spent one summer at the Rutgers University School of Alcohol Studies and another on a National Science Foundation grant brushing up on physics at Iowa State University. He earned his M.Ed. from Kent State College in vocational education in 1973.

To supplement the family income Mr. Alamsha served as part time assistant at the First Congregational Church in Talmadge, Ohio, and at the Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, Presbyterian Church. There his title was minister with youth, and Mrs. Alamsha, who had always done "whatever was needed" on a daily volunteer basis in the church, was director of Christian Education.

Thus they discovered not only that they could work well together, but that they really enjoyed being partners. It was this experience that led Mrs. Alamsha to apply to Princeton Seminary and Mr. Alamsha to seek a position nearby once she was accepted. They plan a ministry together in some capacity once she has graduated.

The couple have a 20-year old daughter who was married this summer and is a student in the Ohio State School of Nursing, an 18 year old son who is mongoloid and in an institution in Columbus, and 16 year old Tim who has plunged enthusiastically into musical activities at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School. The family is active in the American Field Service and has had three AFS students living in their home over the years.

Plans for Church. Mr. Alamsha said that in the two months since coming to the First Presbyterian Church at Plainsboro "we have set as our goal to become a healthier and wholer congregation—to each other and to our community." The official board of the church, which combines the Session and the Trustees, has recently elected to open the Sanctuary each week day from 9 to noon for all to come for quiet and prayer.

Sunday School is held each Sunday at 9:45, and Morning Worship is at 11 to which all are welcome. There is an active Youth Fellowship that meets each week on Sundays from 4 to 6 and recently went on a retreat to Kingsley, Pa

Mr. Alamsha has set a goal of visiting with each of the some 190 members of the church to establish the trusting atmosphere he feels is essential and to share hopes for the church. He is pleased that 16 members took part in the recent 10 mile CROP walk and that over $400 was raised.

Looking ahead, he notes that the church, which is the only church building in Plainsboro, will have a Community Thanksgiving Service on Thanksgiving Day at 8:30 a.m., a traditional time, and that all are welcome. In December there will be new member seminars on the first three Sunday afternoons from 3 to 4:30.

PRAISE GATHERING SET

In Alexander Hall. A non-denominational Praise Gathering will be held Saturday at 7:30 in Alexander Hall.

Living Word, Inc., which trades as the Lamplighter Bookstore at One Palmer Square, is coordinating the event which will include congregational singing, Scripture reading, individual sharing and area musicians. The University Chapel fellowship is providing the facilities, and individuals from over 15 area churches are contributing to the gathering.

According to the Living Word, the purpose of the evening is to give praise to God and to provide "an opportunity for His children in this area to gather together in the name of their common Lord and Savior."

BULLETIN NOTES

Dr. Paul R. Chesebro, former headmaster of the Hun School, will recount his recent experiences in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, Friday at 6:30 at a supper meeting of the Forty Niners at Nassau Presbyterian Church. Dr. Chesebro was invited to come to Riyadh by the sons and other relatives of the late king Faisal who were students at Hun School during the 1950's. The public is invited to hear his talk, which will begin at 8.

The First United Presbyterian Church of Hopewell, West Broad and Louellen Streets, Hopewell, will hold its annual Christmas Bazaar on Friday, from 5 to 9 and Saturday from 10 to 2. Lunch will be available in the Fellowship Hall and nearby rooms.

Handcrafted items, both seasonal and all - occasion, will be available, and there will be a children's shopping room, a large selection of plants, home - baked goods and a white elephant table. Church World Service will also have a display.

Fred Bauer of 6 Littlebrook Road, executive editor of Guideposts magazine, will speak Thursday at 8 at Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane and Houghton Road. Mr. Bauer's book "Daily Guideposts, 1977" contained daily devotions for every day of the year and was so well received that he has just completed "Daily Guideposts, 1978." The meeting is sponsored by the Woman's Society of the church, and everyone is welcome.

The noted black evangelist, the Rev. Dr. Tom Skinner, is expected to lead an extended service of worship in Miller Chapel of Princeton Seminary Wednesday beginning at 10 am. He will also deliver a public address in the main lounge of the Campus Center at 1:30. His appearances are sponsored by the Association of Black Seminarians.

Family Services will be led by Rabbi Melvin J. Glatt Friday evening at 8:15 at the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street. The Oneg Shabbat will be hosted by Mrs. Sue Solomon, Mrs. Henny Sherman and Mrs. Laurel Blechman, in honor of the Bar Mitzvah of Scott Kline who will be called to the reading of the Torah Saturday at 10.

The Men's Club of the Jewish Center will hold its monthly breakfast meeting Sunday at 9:15. The program will be on the rights of the mentally ill, with a discussion lead by Prof. Julian Wolpert, expert on urban planning; Alex Brooks, prominent attorney; and Dr. Daniel Fishman, expert on community care programs. All are welcome.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Mary W. Wigner, 76, of 8 Ober Road, died November 8 in Princeton Medical Center. She was the wife of Dr. Eugene Paul Wigner, emeritus physics professor at Princeton University and a 1963 Nobel Prize winner.

A resident of Princeton since 1945, Mrs. Wigner taught physics at Douglass College from 1958 to 1964 and at Vassar College from 1931 to 1941. She received her undergraduate degree from Wellesley College and her doctorate in physics from Yale University. She worked with her husband on the nuclear chain reaction which led to the development of the atomic bomb.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a son, David W. Wigner of Dijon, France, and a daughter, Martha W. Upton of East Windsor.

Private burial was held Saturday in Princeton Cemetery. A memorial service will be held Saturday at 11 in Princeton University Chapel. The Rev. Robert Cope, former pastor of the Unitarian Church, will officiate. Contributions may be made to Wellesley College.

Charles C. Stech, 87, of 138 Jefferson Road, died November 7 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Mr. Stech was a psychologist and prominent in the retail field throughout the country. He devised the Morale Survey, a questionnaire that gave employees a chance to relate their feelings about working conditions to their supervisors. He was the owner and operator of Stech Surveys at 199 Nassau Street.

He was the author of many publications, including "Secrets of Job Success," "Secrets of Successful Leadership," and "The Personality Rating Scale." He was an Army veteran of World War I and served as an officer in the medical corps. He was a member of King Lodge No. 246 F&AM of Warren, Ind., where he was born.

Husband of the late Mrs. Virginia Stech, who died in 1961, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Rosalie S. Sullivan of Dearborn, Mich; a sister, Mrs. Evelyn Click of Oklahoma; a brother, Ernest Stech of Michigan; a granddaughter and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Edna Weinrich, 77, of 4131 Princeton Pike, died November 12 in Princeton Medical Center. Born in Paterson, she lived in Princeton for more than 40 years and was the wife of Carl Weinrich, professor of music emeritus at Princeton University and reknown organist.

Mrs. Weinrich was a graduate of Bucknell University and did graduate work in psychology at Columbia University. She taught at Paterson High School and at the Lawrence School in Hewlett Park, N.Y. After coming to Princeton in 1934, she taught psychology at Westminster Choir College and for many years managed her husband's concert activities.

She was a member of the Princeton University League.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Forrest Friedley of San Fernando, Calif., and Cynthia Weinrich of Cambridge, Mass.; five grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Lambert Bewles of St. Louis, Mo., and a brother, Ellsworth Tomplins of Southern Pines, N.C.

The service will be held Wednesday at 3 in the Marquand Transept of Princeton University Chapel, Dean Ernest Gordon officiating. Burial will be in Trinity-All Saints' Cemetery. Contributions may be made to Princeton University Chapel.

Arrangements are under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Shirley Shelmet Cascone, 42, of Merion Court, Lawrenceville, died November 14 at her home.

Born in Trenton, she was a lifelong area resident. Mrs. Cascone was the former executive secretary of the New Jersey League of Municipalities and past president of the PTA of Villa Victoria Academy.

Surviving are her husband, Peter P. Cascone; three daughters, Mrs. Gina Williams, Miss Annette and Miss Elise Cascone; a grandson, Roger F. Williams; a brother, Walter Shelmet; and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Rose Bowker, all of Lawrenceville.

Arrangements are under the direction of the Lisiecki Funeral Home, 1026 North Olden Avenue, Trenton.

Mrs. Molly S. Oberndorfer, 80, of Pennington-Rocky Hill Road, Pennington, died November 10 in Lawrenceville Nursing Home. Born in Denver, Colo., Mrs. Oberndorfer was a member of the YWCA Friday Club.

Wife of the late Col. Abbott Oberndorfer, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. James Bartholomew of Pennington and Mrs. Janet Oberndorfer of Manhattan, and three grandchildren.

The service was held at a Pennington funeral home, the Rev. Robert A. Beringer of the First Presbyterian Church of Hopewell officiating. Interment was at the convenience of the family.

Frank D. Stoveken, 72, of Mountain Christian Church Road, Hopewell, died November 12 in Trenton. He was a former employee of Rockwell Manufacturing Company of Hopewell and a native of the Hopewell area.

Husband of the late Dorothy Stoveken, he is survived by two sons, Frank A. Stoveken of Yardville and Richard Stoveken of Burlington; two sisters, Miss Norreen Stoveken of New York City and Mrs. Emma Hosier of Lexington, Ky.; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mass of Ressurection was celebrated at St. Alphonsus Church with burial in the parish cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Katherine Goldblatt, 29, of 5002 Fox Run Drive, Plainsboro, died November 12 in Princeton Medical Center. Wife of Dr. Kenneth Goldblatt, who is one of the staff of the Princeton Medical Center, Mrs. Goldblatt was the head nurse in the coronary unit at Princeton Medical Center.

She was born in Scranton, Pa., and was a graduate of the Scranton State Hopsital School of Nursing. She also attended the University of Scranton. She was a member of the American Association of Critical Care Nurses.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bodick of Honesdale, Pa.; a brother, Michael Bodick of Honesdale; two sisters, Miss Elizabeth Bodick of Honesdale and Miss Susanne Bodick of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The service was held in the Mather Funeral Home with burial in Princeton Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the coronary care unit of Princeton Medical Center.

TALK PLANNED

By Professional Roster. "Getting College Credit for Volunteer Experience" will be the subject of a talk Wednesday, November 16 at 7:30 at the Professional Roster, 5 Ivy Lane.

Dr. Ruth B. Ekstrom, a research scientist at Educational Testing Service, will explain how to apply for such credit, while Dr. Ruth McKeefery, a program advisor at Thomas Edison College, will discuss how that college assesses a person's volunteer experience in giving college credits. The public is invited.

Thomas Edison College on Princeton's Forrestal Campus is one of four accredited United States institutions that has no regular faculty. Dr. Ekstrom is the author of the forthcoming book, "How To Get College Credit For What You Have Learned as a Homemaker and Volunteer."

HOWELL FARM LISTED

As National Landmark. The Howell Farm in Hopewell, already placed on the New Jersey Register, has just been listed on the National Register of Historic Places. The farm, which was donated to the County of Mercer by Mrs. Inez Howell, is operated and maintained by the Mercer County Park Commission.

The Park Commission is in the process of restoring the site to a circa 1920 working farm, which will be open to the public.

The National Register is the official inventory of the nation's properties that merit preservation because of their significance in American history, architecture, archeology and culture. Listing in the National Register makes the property eligible for preservation grants-in-aid which are sponsored by the National Park Service.

A QUARTET IN GRIGGSTOWN

YOU HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR THIS! A restored Colonial on twenty-six subdividable acres in Griggstown. High on a hill with a spectacular view of miles and miles of countryside, there is a charming house – two bedrooms and bath up; living room with fireplace, dining room, third bedroom or library, full bath, kitchen, laundry-breakfast room down. Kitchen, baths, plumbing, heating and wiring are new. Move in by Christmas. $150,000

THIS UNIQUE HOUSE with its eclectic architecture had its beginnings about 1800 and its latest contemporary addition in 1971. A large square beamed ceiling living room 27 x 27 provides a central core for surrounding additions such as: a billard room with cathedral ceiling, a two bedroom suite with kitchenette and bath, a master bedroom suite with dressing room and bath, a new study with lots of glass, a dining room, main kitchen, and additional bedroom and bath. On the second floor another bedroom and bath. Detached two car garage with rooms above. All on a high acre overlooking the Millstone River and Canal. $225,000

YOUR OWN COUNTRY CLUB on almost four beautiful acres. An attractive ranch home with unusually spacious rooms. Living room 18 x 25 with fireplace, separate dining room 12 x 18, study, kitchen with dining space, two bedrooms, one and one-half baths. Third bedroom on second floor, plus full attic. Screened porch and patio. 16 x 32 swimming pool. Two car attached garage. $79,000

COMFORTABLE COUNTRY RETREAT on three and one-half acres with space and privacy for every member of the family. Spacious living room 21 x 22 with brick fireplace, separate dining room, study, convenient kitchen and laundry. On second floor, two separate bedroom areas, each with two bedrooms and bath. Three-car garage, fenced in-ground pool, small barn and fencing for horse. All in excellent condition. $108,000

NOTICE

In compliance with a ruling of the State Supreme Court, all newspapers must ascertain that employment ads do not discriminate between sexes.

For example, titles such as "Salesman," "Nurse" and "Girl Friday," should be replaced, respectively, by "Salesperson," "Nurse (M/W)" and "General Office Work M/W". TOWN TOPICS has a copy of the Division of Civil Rights booklet, "A Guide for Employers to the New Jersey Law against Discrimination," and will provide assistance in the wording of all such ads upon request. Advertisers' cooperation is sought in meeting the requirements of the law

MANY EXCEPTIONAL HOUSES...

A GRACIOUS SOUTHERN COLONIAL ON A WOODED LOT IN ONE OF PRINCETON'S LOVELIEST NEIGHBORHOODS: Built to Salzman specifications, sturdy and solid, featuring a spacious center hall, front-to-back living room with fireplace and lots of windows, panelled study, really comfortable dining room, well-planned eat-in kitchen with pantry, utility room, and powder complete the first floor. Four ample corner bedrooms and two full baths upstairs. An extra bonus is found in the lower level with full windows and doors to the patio. Two + rooms with fireplace and full bath just ready to be finished to accommodate the visiting in-laws, wanting-to-be-alone teenagers, or what-have-you! Of course, there's a two car garage with lots of storage area, full attic and great closets throughout. All well-situated on 1½+ acres covered with magnificent trees and high on a ridge. Be the first to see this before the Open House, by appointment only, with a Henderson agent! $172,500!

WHEN LAWRENCEVILLE WAS MAIDENHEAD (C. 1750) Stately, gracious, comfortable. One of our area's outstanding landmarks. Stone and frame for durability, resting elegantly midst its gardens and trees. High ceilings, walk-in fireplaces, and colonial abound inside where a large and loving famly can find everything imaginable for today's living. The details are too numerous to mention. But please call Florence Dawes for an appointment to see this exceptional offering. $265,000

MOSTLY BRICK AND BEAUTIFUL! Here on a magnificently landscaped corner lot in Lawrence Township is an unusually super ranch with a 26-foot family room and huge brick fireplace, gigantic living room, slate foyer, larger dining room, big eat-in kitchen fully equipped with built-in refrigerator/freezer, Tappan stove and oven. Three bedrooms. 1 full and two half baths, large basement with laundry room. Enormous oversized two-car garage with heat and automatic doors. Would you believe? $79,900!

ATTENTION COMMUTERS! We have just listed a fantastic colonial at the end of a cul-de-sac and in the woods. With 5 or 6 bedrooms and 4 complete baths, this cedar shaked home features 3,500 square feet of generous living space. There is a spacious foyer, a huge country kitchen, dining room and living room all with wall to wall carpeting (most of it brand new!). Also, a full basement, central air and a 2 car attached garage. Call today to see our newest West Windsor listing at $129,900

MUCH MORE THAN MEETS THE EYE is this spacious ranch on a wooded acre in West Windsor with 4 bedrooms, a beautiful country kitchen with a fireplace, comfortable living room, dining room and plenty of wall to wall carpeting. This home is the ultimate in modern living. Other outstanding features are a recreation room with a fireplace, wet bar, a complete room (20x36) added to the back of the house overlooking the in-ground swimming pool, and 2 car garage. Just listed and ready to be seen by appointment. $135,000

NEXT TO THE BEDENS BROOK CLUB...A beautiful salt box which has been faithfully recreated by William Thompson, A.I.A., and the master builders, Hont and Augustine, from the plans of an original 18th Century barn.
It has every conceivable extra with central vacuum, intercom system, electric garage door openers, on and on. Two fireplaces, a superb dining room with dado, chair rail, and wide floor boards throughout, a "keeping room" with a set-off kitchen, four bedrooms, three and a half baths. Cathedral ceilings, slate foyer, batten doors, expansive, private deck -- could not be reproduced for the asking price of $159,000!

NO PICTURE YET, BUT TAKE OUR WORD...

THE CHANGE OF SEASONS IS ENHANCED BY THE VIEW FROM THE DECK! An architect designed, custom built contemporary presently under construction on a wooded acre with shared ownership in a park-like setting of seven acres of open space in Princeton Township. The skylighted two story entry sets the pace for this exciting plan. Living room w/fireplace and raised hearth, dining room, family room w/fireplace, breakfast room, kitchen with every modern convenience, powder room. Upstairs: Large and lofty Master bedroom, master bath, dramatic bridge connecting bedroom wings, three bedrooms, hall bath & laundry room: two car garage, fully air conditioned. Upon completion in three months, land will be fully landscaped. $170,000

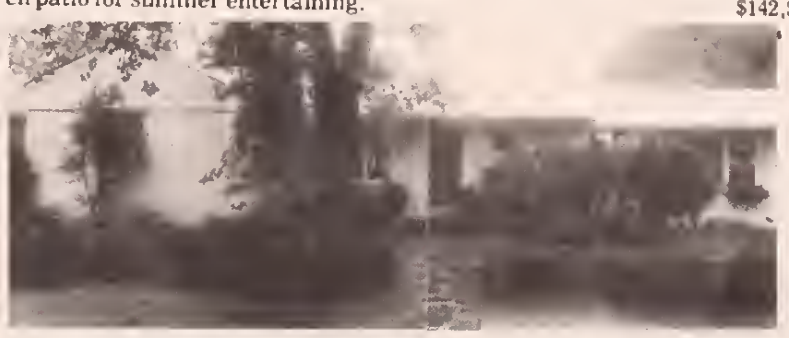
...HENDERSON, OF COURSE

WHY LOOK LONGER? On a beautiful professionally landscaped lot not far from Mercer County Community College is an outstanding center hall colonial. Just four years young with four good sized bedrooms and 2½ baths, this brick and frame home features a comfortable living room, formal dining room, spacious eat-in kitchen and a family room with sliding glass doors that lead to a fantastic deck. There is plenty of closet space, an enclosed yard, central air conditioning and everything in excellent condition. $66,500

EVERYTHING IS BEAUTIFUL any season of the year from these back terraces - why not try Autumn and then be turned on by the azaleas blooming in the Spring? This Mazur built story and one half ranch in the desirable Tall Timbers section of Lawrence boasts four large bedrooms, living room w/fireplace, dining room w/French doors to upper terrace, a garden room, eat-in kitchen and two full ceramic tile baths all on a professionally landscaped acre and one half. Many costly extras including central air, burglar alarm, automatic garage door opener, carpeting and speaker system. We'll save a few surprises for your inspection. IMMEDIATE OCCUPANCY $125,000

40 WEST SHORE DRIVE...Authentic New England "half house" Cape on terraced one and one half acre. Hot water baseboard heat for cozy winter evenings and central air for crisp summer nights. Random width floors, exposed beams in family room. Fireplace in living room and family room. Super Country kitchen, formal dining room. First floor bedroom and bath. Three bedrooms and two baths on second. Expandable garage loft. Large free form birch patio for summer entertaining. $142,500



FOR THE AT HOME PROFESSIONAL...Meticulously redesigned one story brick dwelling in the Borough! A property that will satisfy the most demanding and practical buyer. A large kitchen equipped with labor-saving devices enables you to prepare brunch for two or dinner for large gatherings with ease. A huge living-dining room combination with built-in marble top buffet accented with fireplace, floor to ceiling windows and French doors leading to the patio bordering the in-ground heated pool. Master bedroom suite plus 3 bedrooms, 3½ baths. Convenient to public and private school transportation. $149,500

MIDST THE TREES ON ROLLING HILL ROAD! This grandly spacious colonial has been recently decorated from floor to ceiling and has all the rooms needed for an active family which values privacy and comfort. Formal living room w/fireplace, formal dining room, library w/fireplace and wet bar, family room w/fireplace, kitchen, and sun porch which is heated and powder room. The second floor has a master bedroom suite w/bath, two bedrooms w/hall and a two bedroom suite arrangement with bath. The basement family room has an outdoor entrance, a utility room and bath. Three car garage. $225,000

AN EXCEPTIONAL PRINCETON CLASSIC IN THE RENAISSANCE MANNER! One of our most charming houses...nestled snugly on an imposing lot of terraced lawns, tall trees, circular drive and private patios! A stucco complex of multi-levels and contemporary living. Outstanding kitchen with fireplace and compact work area is found in a central location between children's wing of two bedrooms, bath, laundry and sitting rooms. An elegant dining room with doors to the terrace features also a bar area, just off the brick-floored library which leads to the master suite of private bedroom and spacious bath-dressing room. The northern wing provides an English country living room with large fireplace and cathedral ceiling, complete with bookshelves. Of course, there's a study with full bath, too. Restored just a year ago, and technically sound as a dollar. New Price: $165,000

STEP BACK IN TIME in this Pre-Revolutionary colonial. Positively charming on 2.2 acres of woods and lawn. Outstanding home within walking distance to schools and recreation. Special Home for Autistic Children Will Teach Them About Normal Family Interaction Patterns

"These kids have a right to live as independently as they can and to learn what normal family interaction patterns are."

That's what Dr. Patricia Krantz says about "Family Focus," the house at 4 Elm Ridge Road that will soon be home for five autistic boys. The first ones are scheduled to move in during the next few weeks, and will probably remain for about two years.

The boys, ranging in age from 8 to 12, will return to Family Focus every day after school, at the Princeton Child Development Institute, play some after-school games or swim in the pool, do their home-work, help set the table for dinner and clean up afterwards and then go off to bed, just the way any boy would in an ordinary home.

The family focus house is unique because it's in a community and is community-based, Dr. Krantz points out. It's not like a cottage on the grounds of some institution. Although financially separate from the Child Development Institute, it is part of the Institute's program.

A Definition. "Austistic" is a relatively new word for most lay people. Ten years ago, almost nobody had even heard the word and even today, few know what it really means. In fact, physicians and therapists still do not know the cause and, because the incidence is not high, may see only one or two autistic children in a lifetime of practice.

Dr. Krantz defines autism through its manifestations. A child has delayed language, may even not be talking at all, and has trouble with the concepts of "when, what, where, and why." He is withdrawn, does not respond to the environment--especially to people--and may refuse any eye-contact with another person. He is "self-stimulatory," rocking endlessly in a corner or staring constantly at a light. He may be so resistant to change that he is a tyrant about order and structure, perceiving within seconds that a room full of objects has had one object removed.

Curiously, most autistic children are male. The national ratio is eight boys to one girl, and at the Institute, there are 11 boys and one girl. The reason for this ratio is as locked in mystery as the causes of autism itself.

LEARNING, EARNING: "What is today?" "Monday." "What does Ernie see with?" "Eyes" (That's Ernie, pinned to the wall). "Can Ernie eat birthday cake with his eyes? Look at me!" The child brings his eyes to meet those of his teacher, and smiles as he answers "No," to that question about Ernie. Speech therapist and special education teacher Debbie Duffield rewards her class at the Child Development Institute with a cracker and lavish praise for right answers, looking at her and "good talking!" Many autistic children have language and human interaction problems.

Some Unusual Skills. Beset by problems he may be, but frequently the autistic child has very special skills. Dr. Krantz tells of an 18-month-old boy who could not speak but who taught himself to read. Another young child could read aloud fluently, but never used verbs in his own spontaneous speech.

"We have had some exciting successes--the problems are not insoluble," Dr. Krantz says. She relates the history of two boys who are now in regular kindergarten classes, "Mainstreamed" into the public schools. One is actually in an ungraded first and second grade class for academic purposes, even though he is only five. At social times, like playground activity, he stays with his fellow five-year olds. The second child is also in kindergarten but still needs some help.

The Family Focus house is a handsome, spacious one-story home, with family rooms, a big kitchen overlooking a patio, swimming pool and grassy yard, a giant playroom and a cozy suite over the playroom for Greg and Meg MacDuff, the Teaching Parents who welcome the boys every afternoon, and wave them off to school in the morning.

"It's a place where a boy can move into more and more independent living, as he develops skills," Dr. Krantz explains.

"We always start with the premise that a kid can learn. But these kids don't learn in the spontaneous, almost casual ways other kids do. We break down setting the table to each step--would you believe there are almost 25? You must structure the learning, yet make sure the child doesn't become too dependent."

In setting a table, for example, Meg or Greg may say "Let's set now," moving from there to "Why not help me?" and from there to "Why don't you set the table?"

Always there are rewards. Three six and seven-year-olds in a "Bulletin board class" at the Institute, are given frequent crackers for rewards. Preteens doing arithmetic problems get tokens dropped into a cup. So many tokens entitles you to a reward.

"You're doing your work so nicely, you get a token," says teacher Luann Ausen.

Praise Is Essential. "We try to make human interactions pleasant through constant praise," explains Ed Renske, head teacher at the Institute. "We want being with others to be a pleasant experience. These kids haven't got social or academic skills. When you take away their inappropriate behavior, like tantrums, they may have nothing else!"

He commented on Greg MacDuff's praise for two very young boys who were sitting quietly on a bench.

"You see, Greg is praising them for sitting quietly--that's important."

Indicentally, once the boys move into the Family Focus house, Greg will not be at the school. Work day for him and Meg will start when the boys come home from school. Their time off will be during the day, when the boys are at school.

The school itself has been held in the First Day School building of Princeton Friends Meeting. It will shortly move to the former administration building of the Princeton Regional Schools on Stockton Street.

"By Myself." The older boys in the arithmetic class had been given tasks which the teacher and her volunteer aide, Marci Ollis, knew the boys could complete. It is very important to start and complete something quite on their own.

At the house, conversation and ordinary family activity will be carefully structured. Saturdays, some boys will go with Greg or Meg to the

McCarter Will Stage Three Wilder One-Acters In Place of Drama Which Might Have Offended

McCarter has changed plays again. The theatre announced this week that it has withdrawn "Old Flames," by the British playwright E.A. Whitehead, and will substitute three one-act plays by Thornton Wilder: "The Happy Journey to Camden and Trenton," "Queens of France" and "The Long Christmas Dinner."

They will open at McCarter on Thursday, December 1, and will play through December 18. Michael Kahn will direct.

The statement announcing that "Old Flames" had been extinguished said the play "proved to be a controversial choice, and elicited a large volume of divided opinion with the McCarter Theatre community."

"Community" in this context, refers to staff, board of trustees and the McCarter Associates. Persons close to the theatre decline to talk for publication on the nature of the play and the reasons for its withdrawal, but one commented that the language of Mr. Whitehead's drama was "locker-room talk to the nth degree," and would be very offensive to many.

For Adult Audiences. In earlier releases, the theatre had referred to "Old Flames" as an "adult" drama. Reportedly, the play includes, besides the locker-room talk, a suggestion of cannibalism.

Another comment characterized "Old Flames" as "a very, very strong play, a pervasive challenge to an audience."

Mr. Kahn, as producing director, selects the plays to be performed at McCarter, and so far as anyone knows, is free to choose whatever he likes. However, it is understood that when the nature of "Old Flames" became known, there were top-level consultations and Mr. Kahn agreed to make the substitution. In the theatre's formal statement, he said:

"While we are not reluctant to choose plays which may be controversial, the time was too short to have an adequate discussion of the issues raised by the conflicting opinon among the staff, the Board of Trustees and the Associates.

"The changes that McCarter has made during the current season are unfortunate, but not unusual in the theatre, and we have been lucky in the past. The McCarter audience is very loyal and has responded most generously to the rescheduling."

Two Major Cast Changes. Originally, Mr. Kahn had scheduled "Grand Magic," by the Italian playwright Eduardo de Filippo for the December slot. But there were problems obtaining the rights and it would have been an expensive play to mount. "Old Flames" was scheduled instead.

Both plays produced so far—"The Confirmation" and "Morrissey Hall"--have had late cast changes in the leading roles.

Several people associated with McCarter have pointed out that "Old Flames" would have been ideal for a small, experimental theatre. If McCarter had a second auditorium, seating perhaps 150 or 200, that special audience would undoubtedly have welcomed a play of "strong pervasive challenge." For McCarter's 14,000 subscribers, however, "Old Flames" was apparently thought to be just too much.

"....although we don't want to produce only genteel pap," was one remark.

As a non-commercial theatre, McCarter must depend on such outside support as foundations, large and small, and individual donors, large and small. This support is vital to the theatre, not solely for this season or next, but for the long haul. The risk of alienation is regarded as a real one.

NEW ZEALANDER HERE

To Show Wildlife Film. The next in a series of Audubon Wildlife films sponsored by the Trenton Naturalist Club will be "Wilderness Trek Through New Zealand" on Thursday at 8 in the Kirby Arts Center of the Lawrenceville School. Grant Foster, who made the film, will personally present it.

Mr. Foster is a New Zealander and has been with the New Zealand National Film Unit in Wellington since 1957. As director cameraman he has made travel documentaries and informational films about life in New Zealand. "Wilderness Trek" is a montage of several of his award winning films and highlights the birdlife, the tropical flora, the forest life and an ascent of Mt. Aspiring in New Zealand.

The public is invited.

CHILDREN'S PLAY SET

Players to Give "Many Moons." Casting has been completed for the Princeton Community Players children's theatre production of James Thurber's "Many Moons," which will be shown at the Players' theatre, 171 Broadmead, on December 3, 4, 7, 10 and 11.

The director is Debbie Bellow, who has a long series of Street Theatre and Rider College productions to her credit. She has announced a cast that includes Robert, Lisa and Amber Watson, Beth Ellis, Rachel Jacobs, Martin Spaats, Mark Pinto, Carrie Jacobus, Maryanne Ernst, Bruce Maile and Lisa Patrick. Ken Junkins is doing the lighting and scene design.

CHAUCER AT HUN

Five "Tales" on Stage. A dramatization of five of Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" will be performed by The Hun School Drama Club, under the direction of Alphonse Apalategui, this Thursday and Friday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The series, which include The Nun's Priest Tale, The Pardoner's Tale, The Summoner's Tale, The Friar's Tale, and The Wife of Bath's Tale, reflects the attitudes and life of 14th century England. Although presented in modern English, recorded music played on medieval instruments will help to recreate the sounds of the times.

The "Canterbury Tales" mark Mr. Apalategui's first production at Hun, although he admits, "I've been involved in school plays as long as I can remember." A teacher of English and drama for 15 years, Mr. Apalategui has directed repertory and community theater in New York State and Arizona. He looks forward to developing the drama program at Hun with the eventual hope of forming a touring company to perform at elementary schools in the area.

The public is invited to join the Canterbury pilgrims on a journey back to April in England, 1387. Tickets are 75 cents on Thursday and $1 on Friday. The pilgrims include: Chaucer, played by Henry Royal of Lawrenceville;

P.J. & B. Sets Auditions

"Brigadoon" will be the winter production of the P.J. & B. (Princeton Junction and Back) players, and auditions will be held next week in Corwin Hall on the Princeton University campus.

Director Milton Lyon will audition students on Monday, November 21 (dancers) and Tuesday, November 22 (actors). Non - students are invited to audition on Saturday and Sunday, November 26 and 27.

Appointments are required, and may be made by calling Judith Augsberg at 452 - 6139.

"Brigadoon" will be presented at McCarter Theatre on February 16, 17 and 18. There will be 125 to 150 in the cast and all ages are invited to try out.

Cast in Intime Musical Labors So Strenuously That Emerging Humor Proves to Be Still-Born

Who is loony, and how can anybody tell the difference? These are questions which get no conclusive answers in "Anyone Can Whistle," the musical (book by Arthur Laurents, music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim) with which Theatre Intime opens a new season in Murray Theatre.

Somewhere in the USA, so the story runs, a small town is going bankrupt. The lady mayor, abetted by three crooked political cronies, concocts a fake "miracle" to shore up her popularity. Should the 49 inmates of the "Kookie Jar" (local madhouse) — luckily we see only 15 of them — share in the benefits of the miracle?

FAMILY ARGUMENT: Brothers Jamie and Ted Horton are on opposite sides of an argument in "Anyone Can Whistle," the musical currently at Theatre Intime.

Nurse Fay Apple says yes, the town's Establishment says no, Fay is driven out of town. She returns disguised in a red dress and copper wig, posing as an expert in miracles from Lourdes, France.

Meanwhile Dr. J. Bowden Hapgood (who really isn't a doctor) is welcomed to the town. ("When I look into your eyes," says Mayoress Cora Hoover Hooper in one of the funnier lines of Act One, "I wish I'd lost that election.")

Hapgood blandly separates sheep (sane) from goats (kookie), or vice versa, and later meets the lady from Lourdes. Various tactics by which he hopes to get her to relax and unbend are failures; she can't overcome her nurse's conditioning toward control and order, and though she sings "Anyone Can Whistle" and tries to let go, she can't even whistle.

A Fresh Start. In the end, the "miracle" is exposed, the kookies go free, and everybody — including some of the mayoress's cynical aides — rushes off to a neighboring town where a new miracle has been reported. Fay and Hapgood seem to have established some kind of rapport, but of what nature I cannot be sure.

Should the above attempt to summarize the plot be wanting in accuracy, put it down to the fact that we in the audience, somewhere in Act One, are also shown to be mad: a sudden bright light that bathes the two - and three-dollar seats reveals us in our pitiable condition to the actors.

With tuneful songs by Stephen Sondhiem, such a wacky plot might be a gold mine for deft direction and light - hearted acting. Alas, there is too little of either. With exceptions that will be noted, the players yield to shouting and mugging.

The four "conspirators" work so hard to be funny that their humor is often still - born. The chorus tends to indulge in frenzied motion and general clamor, although some of them are appealing when allowed to be individuals and not just kookies in the mass.

The Good News. (Interpolation: Your reviewer is reporting on what he saw on opening night. He has it on good authority that after three performances the show has been shortened and vastly lightened up, which is good news.)

Among the evening's rewards is the presence of Margaret Emory as Fay Apple and Jamie Horton as Hapgood. When these two play their first scene together in Act Two, we are suddenly watching real people instead of mere caricatures. Their duet, "Come Play With Me" — in French with English subtitles! — is a show - stopper, the highlight of the evening.

Miss Emory is not a great singer, but her low - key delivery of "There Won't Be Trumpets" is a joy after all the stridency that precedes it. Her whole performance, in fact, is quietly attractive.

Mr. Horton's talent is brightest in high - comedy scenes where nuances of expression and good timing make so much difference. His admirers will be pleased with his Hapgood, though he too gets drawn into some of the shouting matches which pass for drama.

An actor with style, though appearing in an all - too - short role, is Jordan Simon, who plays the psychiatrist Dr. Detmold. Pleasantly appealing also to these aging eyes is the svelte and rhythmic quartet of Cora's Boys, who in real life bear such names as Isabelle, Alexandra, Frances and Karen.

Although much of what takes place on the Murray Theatre stage — at least on opening night — is heavy - handed where it should be light, Intime must be complimented for venturing to offer a Sondheim musical to its public. Credit is due to many persons: to Geoff Rich for stage and musical direction as well as for appearing at the piano with Peggy Forsyth, to Nancy Hadley for costumes, Steven Condiotti for lighting, Fred Ebert for choreography, Kevin Wilkes for technical direction.

"Anyone Can Whistle" will continue its run this week from Thursday through Sunday, with curtain time at 8:30.

Violinist Itzhak Perlman in Thoroughly Enjoyable Concert

Violinist Itzhak Perlman presented a concert of romantic music Monday in the second of the Princeton University Concerts, Series I, at McCarter Theater. Perlman and his accompanist, Samuel Sanders, performed Schubert's "Rondo Brilliant," Op. 70, Brahms' Sonata No. 1 in G major, Op. 78, Stravinsky's Divertimento from "The Fairy's Kiss," two of Paganini's Caprices for solo violin, and Sarasate's "Introduction and Tarantella."

Perlman was involved nearly as much with the audience as with the music. Quite often, more and more as the music progressed, his glance appeared to float off the stage toward the seats, as though to assure the audience he knew they were there. Such a manner transforms a recital from mere performance to communication.

A few missed pitches and a volume that seldom achieved a full - blooded fortissimo were the only blemishes spanning the whole concert. These were more than compensated for by his smooth, warm tone and confident musicality, the latter evidenced particularly in his elastic rubato.

The opening Rondo is a long, non - committal, almost schizophrenic composition with many sections in many keys. Perlman and Sanders gave a better - than - non - committal performance, with punchy dotted rhythms, rich singing tones in the necessary places, and a well - paced build - up at the end. Still, this of all the pieces made the least impression.

A Delicate Touch. Perlman played the magnificent first movement of the Brahms Sonata in a mournful fashion, delicately, slowly and restrained at the beginning, a bit faster at the next theme, then slowing down again. There was much skillful rubato in this movement.

At the beginning of the coda he exaggerated his opening approach, adopting an almost lento tempo. The interpretation was highly successful, though the slightly ambiguous tempo indication, "Vivace ma non troppo," would seem to suggest that Brahms wanted it a little faster, more tender than sad.

Perlman's rendition of that movement afforded little contrast to the second, a true "Adagio," or the last, marked (again enigmatically) "Allegro molto moderato." With a single pervasive accompaniment figure, the finale can easily suffocate if the "molto moderato" is taken too literally, but that is what happened as basically one tempo, dynamic, and texture were heard and relatively little of the nervousness surfaced that seems to underlie the music.

The Stravinsky Divertimento, arranged from an orchestral version, qualifies as a romantic - style composition even though written by a man born a century after Paganini. The orchestral setting naturally has more color than a violin - piano combination can produce, but some different perspectives are gained hearing it performed as a duet.

With Visible Enjoyment. Here Perlman visibly began to enjoy himself, as the opportunity for spunky playing first materialized. There were fluid glissandos, penetrating pizzicatos and biting forte - pianos as melodies unpredictably appeared and evaporated. A faster tempo could have increased the excitement, though it was by no means too slow.

By the time the Paganini Caprices and the Sarasate Tarantella arrived, Perlman had cast away his music and played almost directly to the audience. With hunting calls, rapid wide leaps, stampeding scales and arpeggios, and some pitches brought in from the next galaxy, Perlman evoked the spirit of Paganini, virtuoso playing for its own sake. During the Sarasate, he was grinning at the audience while he casually executed more musical gymnastics.

For an unusual encore, the audience was treated to a ragtime dance by Scott Joplin, imaginatively transcribed by Perlman himself. While Sanders stomped his foot and Perlman shrugged his shoulder to an appropriate phrase, good humor filled the hall.

NINETIES SOIREE

To Costume with Songs. "Father, Dear Father, Come Home with Me Now..." But of course you remember.

And if you don't, you can hear it afresh when Bernice Hicks and Teresa Patrick come forward with their "Select Soiree Musicale," a program of music performed in the parlors and vaudeville houses of the Gay Nineties. The program will be presented this Friday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Western Electric Corporate Education Center, Carter Road. It's part of the celebration of the centennial of St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church in Hopewell. The public is invited, and tickets may be purchased at the door.

Ms. Hicks, who lived in Lawrenceville, has studied voice with Sherlee Emmons, head of the vocal department at Princeton University, and has given private recitals and programs for many years.

A graduate of Juilliard, Mrs. Patrick teaches piano and works with soloists preparing recitals and solo performances.

Dressed in the costume of the period and with an appropriate setting, the two performers will present morality songs like "Father, Dear Father" and "A Bird in a Gilded Cage," as well as songs which would have been sung in the parlors of the rising middle-class. Mrs. Patrick will play music by Scott Joplin and Louis Moreau Gottschalk, and the two artists will conclude the evening with popular American vaudeville songs, such as "After the Ball" and "The Bird on Nellie's Hat."

PUERTO RICAN TO PLAY

In Classical Guitar Concert. Ernesto Cordero, Puerto Rican classical guitarist and composer, will appear Friday at 8 in McCormick 101 in a concert sponsored by the Office of Student Affairs and Accion Puertorriquena y Amigos at the University. He will perform works by Tarrega, Villalobos and Barrios, as well as his own works and works by contemporary Puerto Rican composers.

Mr. Cordero studied in Spain with Maestros Regino Sainz de la Maza and Jorge Ariza and in Italy with Maestro Alirio Diaz. He has been a soloist with the Orquestra Sinfonica de Puerto Rico and has also given concerts in Spain, Greece and Italy. His own compositions have recently been played at the Festival Casals in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Admission is $1.

WORKSHOPS SATURDAY

For Folk Dancers. Folk dancers of Princeton will sponsor a Balkan Dance workshop, a Balkan singing workshop and a party on Saturday at Valley Road School.

The workshops will begin at 1 and will run continuously until 5. A small donation is requested at the door. The party will begin at 8 and is free. Costumes are encouraged and celebrants are urged to bring an ethnic dish or drink to share.

The dance workshop will be led by Martin Kocnig, founder of the Balkan Arts Center in New York City and a noted teacher of folk dance. The two hour session will feature instruction in beginning and intermediate dances.

The singing workshop will be taught by Ethel Raim, a member of the "Pennywhistlers" and a noted teacher of Balkan style singing. Ms. Raim is known for the warmth and encouragement of her teaching style, especially with novice singers. Her workshop will begin at 3:30 and last one and one-half hours.

Both workshops and the evening party are activities of the World Folk Dance Cooperative and of the Princeton Folk Dance Group and have been arranged with the aid of the Recreation Department. The World Folk Dance Cooperative dances each Friday at 8 at 185 Nassau Street; the Princeton Folk Dance Group dances at 8 every Tuesday at Valley Road School. Both groups welcome newcomers.

CONCERT TUESDAY

Of Early Music. Musica Alta, a group of singers and instrumentalists performing music of the Middle Ages and Renaissance, will give a free concert on Tuesday at 8:30 in Alexander Hall. The concert is sponsored by the Friends of Music.

Robert Moreen, assistant professor of Music at Princeton and the group's founder, will direct a program of works by Busnois, Barbireau and Ockeghem, including the Missa Prolationum. Jennifer Lehmann, assistant conductor, will direct the instrumentalists.

Members of the chorus include Judith Feder, Elizabeth Horn, Seth Wiener, Linda Mindlin, Peter Sommer, William Stowe, Michael Long and Henry Horn. Instrumentalists are Anne Goldgar, Jennifer Lehmann, Jane McKinley, Ken Pyne and Laura Smietanka. The instruments used will include recorders, flute, viola da gamba, guitar and krummhorns.

PIANIST RETURNS

For Concert Saturday. Robert Taub, pianist, will appear in the Sacks Memorial Concert on Saturday at 8:30 in the Woolworth Center sponsored by the Friends of Music. The concert is free and open to the public.

A graduate of the Class of 1977, Mr. Taub is well-known to Princeton audiences, having performed on numerous occasions during his four years here as a student. Mr. Taub has been performing since the age of twelve and has won many competitions. In April, 1976, he was chosen to give the New York premiere of Vincent Persichetti's Piano Concerto with the Juilliard Concert Orchestra, under Sixten Ehrling.

He has given recent concerto performances with the Princeton University Orchestra and the Juilliard Contemporary Ensemble, and has performed several times in the Juilliard Evening Concert Series at Alice Tully Hall. Mr. Taub is currently studying piano with Jacob Lateiner as an honorary scholarship student in the graduate division of the Juilliard School. He will play works by Mozart, Chopin and Beethoven.

TO PLAY CLAVICHORD

In Friends' Concert. Joan Benson, one of the few experts of modern times on the Clavichord, will give a free concert on Friday at 8:30 in the Woolworth Center of Musical Studies. Sponsored by the Friends of Music and the Music Department of Princeton University, she will perform works composed in the 15th through the 18th century, including C.P.E. Bach, Haydn and Mozart.

Miss Benson made her debut in 1965 in Copenhagen and since that time has performed on museum instruments in Brussels, Nuremberg, Berlin and the Smithsonian Institute in Washington. In the last year, she has appeared in festivals across the country.

EXHIBIT OPENS SUNDAY

On Photographer's Work The Art Museum of Princeton University will present on Sunday the first major retrospective exhibition of the American Photographer, Francis J. Bruguiere. The exhibition, which contains 100 photographs made between 1915 and 1940, will remain on view through January 8.

It also includes letters, documents of his exhibitions, and selected original publications. The photographs span Bruguiere's career as an artist and represent his various investigations into pictorialism, surrealism, abstraction, multiple imagery, and other experimental styles and techniques.

The exhibition was organized by James Enyeart, executive director of the Friends of Photography in Carmel, Calif. Mr. Enyeart will give an illustrated lecture on Bruguiere at 8 p.m. Monday in McCormick 101, Princeton University. It is open to the public.

Francis J. Bruguiere was born in San Francisco in 1879 and died in London in 1945. He lived and worked in San Francisco until 1918, when he moved his studio to New York City. He was a member of the Photo - Secession, a movement established by Alfred Stieglitz (1902-17), and in 1902 four of his photographs were included in the International Photo - Secession Exhibition at the Albright - Knox Art Museum in Buffalo, N.Y.

Climb to Fame. Following his move to New York City, Bruguiere soon gained a reputation for his photographs made for the Theatre Guild, Harper's Bazaar, and Vanity Fair. It was at this time (1922) that Bruguiere perfected his experiments with the multiple exposure, cut - paper and light abstractions for which he is best known.

In 1922 Bruguiere met Rosalinde Fuller, a British actress who was appearing as Ophelia in John Barrymore's Broadway production of "Hamlet." She became Bruguiere's model, confidante and lover, living with him until his death in 1945.

Between 1923 and 1925, Bruguiere created a series of photographs titled "The Way." These photographs of the emotional and psychological states of man are among the earliest in the history of American photography to manifest an interest in surrealism.

In 1927 the Pictorial Photographers of America arranged a one - man exhibition of Bruguiere's photographs and paintings at the Art Center in New York City. This exhibition received wide critical acclaim and helped establish Bruguiere as one of the major experimental photographers of the 20s. Most of the works in this exhibition were shown in 1928 at Der Sturm Galleries in Berlin, and as a result Bruguiere was made an honorary member of a group known as the German Secessionists.

The Art Museum is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 to 4; Sundays from 1 to 5. The Museum is closed Mondays and major holidays.

ART SHOW AND SALE

To Benefit B'nai Brith. B'nai B'rith Women's Art Show and Sale will be held Sunday at the Grover's Mill Graphics Gallery on Cranbury Neck Road, Princeton Junction.

It will feature works by Stefan Martin, Vincent Ceglia, Beatrice Berlin, Ann Gross, Marie Sturken and other artists from the Princeton area, elsewhere in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York. Among the participating artists will be Sandra Carson, whose wooden jig - saw puzzles are a beautiful and unusual art form.

At a champagne reception on Saturday evening at 8, patrons will honor Princeton artist Dorothea Greenbaum (TOWN TOPICS, Nov. 9) and will preview the art collection. Sunday afternoon from 1 - 4 the show will be open to the public free of charge. Art in all media and price ranges will be for sale and a part of the purchase price will be donated to B'nai Brith Women. This tax deductible contribution will help support the charitable and educational programs of this women's service organization, now in its 80th year.

Two works by Mrs. Greenbaum will be on view for display purposes only. One is a four foot hammered lead woman's torso with wings called "Broken Wings," and the other is a small cast gorilla, appropriately called "Ancestor." Mrs. Greenbaum's new book, "Friends and Foes from A-Z," with text as well as initialled drawings of animals by the artist, will be available. A numbered, limited edition of 250 copies has been published by Castle Howard Press and will sell for $36.

In addition Mrs. Greenbaum has donated a pen and ink sketch of a woman to be raffled off during the evening. Call Jill Wasserman at 924-2602 for raffle information. The winner need not be present at the drawing.

BUS TRIP PLANNED

By Art Association. The Princeton Art Association will take a trip to New York City on Wednesday, December 8, to view the Jasper Johns Retrospective exhibition at the Whitney Museum of American Art. The show covers 22 years of Johns' artistic output and includes more than 200 works, paintings, drawings and sculptures executed between 1955 and 1976.

David Whitney, who served as an assistant to Johns between 1966 and 1968, is guest curator for this show. He has also assembled the noted Johns icons that are now part of contemporary art history. The exhibition occupies two floors of the museum and will next travel to Cologne, Paris, Tokyo and San Francisco.

The cost for the tour is $11 for PAA members and $12 for non - members and is open on a first come, first served basis. The price includes charter bus transportation to

WATERCOLORS ON VIEW

At Loft Gallery. The watercolors of Robert Eric Moore depicting New England are on display at the Loft Gallery Center for the Arts, 306 Alexander Street.

Using a limited palette, Mr. Moore incorporates the realistic with the abstract. The natural beauty of earth, rock, sea and air have inspired these paintings of Maine which capture a land untarnished by human pollution. Mr Moore has won some five different awards since May of this year for his watercolors.

The gallery is open Tuesday through Saturday from 9 to 5.

RECEPTION SUNDAY

For Exhibit by Jane Teller. The Unitarian Church will host a reception on Sunday from 3 to 5 for Jane Teller, of 200 Prospect Avenue, whose work is now on exhibit there. The public is invited to attend the reception, which opens the second show in this season's Unitarian gallery series.

Six large wood sculptures and 21 serigraphs and pen and ink drawings make up the one - woman show, which continues Sunday afternoons through December 5.

During the past 20 years, Mrs. Teller has exhibited in more than 50 one - woman and group shows at such places as New York's Museum of Modern Art and Whitney Museum of American Art, the Philadelphia Museum of Art and Art Alliance, Gallerie Claude Bernard in Paris and the American Embassy in Tokyo. New Jersey art lovers are familiar with her work through the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, Gallery 100, Princeton University's Firestone Library collection, the Newark Museum and Library collection, and the New Jersey State Museum.

ART FAIR SUNDAY

In Roosevelt. Roosevelt's artists and artisans will market gift and collectors' items during an Art and Craft fair Sunday from 11 to 6 at Roosevelt School, just off County Route 571. The fair will also feature a raffle prize and home - cooked refreshments.

The sale will offer shoppers a chance to select one - of - a - kind Christmas and Chanukah gifts from $1 and up. Stefan Martin's "What Remains No. II," an original ink collage with incising, will be raffled during the sale. Members of Roosevelt's Senior Citizens Club will offer homemade soups and baked goods for sale.

In addition to Martin, artists Jack Bermowitz, Robert Mueller, Peter Vince and Larry White will sell woodcuts, lithographs and primitives. Player Support for Casciola May Keep Him Here; Tigers End Season by Trouncing Cornell, 34-0

ISOM MISSES OFFICIAL, CORNELL MISSES ISOM: The Tigers' co-captain races into the end zone untouched on a nine-yard draw play for his second touchdown Saturday. He gained 178 yards rushing and set one-season mark for total carries as Princeton won fourth straight over the Red, 34-0. (Bob Matthews Photo)

Princeton University's football team answered one question emphatically Saturday when it flattened Cornell, 34-0, and thereby raised another. In demonstrating that it had the ability and the character to get up from the floor after being run over by Yale and win its final game in impressive fashion, the Orange and Black left followers of the sport asking: will the solid backing that Bob Casciola has from his players weigh sufficiently in his favor to result in a new coaching contract?

What is being said is simply this: If the kids on the team who know what it feels like to win three and lose six, and the seniors who will graduate after having felt the glow of victory just 9 times in 27 games, are in favor of Casciola's retention virtually to a man, what difference does it make how the members of the administration charged with setting athletic policy, or the alumni, or anyone else feels? If the decision is based on the somewhat logical assumption that the game belongs to the players, it appeared this week that Casciola's widespread popularity with them and with many other segments of the Princeton community might be enough to keep him on the job.

Unimpressive Figures. The weight of opinion against him is based on the prime factor guiding the way to most such decisions--is his won-lost record satisfactory? It isn't, of course, in the judgment of everyone from the typical outspoken alumnus to Bob Casciola. In the course of winning barely 30 percent of the time, his teams have recorded only three distinct upsets in Ivy play while losing on numerous occasions when fewer mistakes would have meant victory.

But it is quite conceivable that the lack of adequate ability in personnel being admitted to Princeton will weigh heavily in Casciola's favor when the decision is made. In his first four years here, other Ivy coaches agreed: just three Princeton players have been named to the all-league team on which, over a four-year period, there are 96 places.

If football-playing undergraduates favor Casciola's retention, campus opinion is not solidly behind them. Last week The Daily Princetonian urged that he be replaced, and as far back as November, 1976, the student radio station suggested firmly that another coach could improve Princeton's football fortunes.

No timetable has been set for reaching the decision, but every day that the matter is unresolved can be costly to the Tigers' future in the sport. These are the weeks when high school seniors are making firm decisions on college applications, and if there is no coaching staff empowered to conduct a recruiting program, the climb back to respectability may be delayed that much longer.

CORNELL FLAT OUT

Losers Thoroughly Beaten. Both teams in Saturday's final contest of the year had an opportunity to erase some of the bad memories of the 1977 season, and to take a long look ahead at next fall with brighter hopes. This was particularly true because they will begin on September 23 playing each other at Ithaca, and the upper hand in the preceding contest--even when separated by nine months--can be meaningful.

Princeton's dominance was total, first while the starting teams were in action and then after players well down the depth chart on both sides were seeing action. The Tigers launched scoring drives of 74, 52, 85, 96 and 55 yards, running and passing for 414 yards to 163 for the losers. While the Red once got as far as the Princeton 5, it was on the final play of the first half, so that it never really came close to scoring.

Isom in the Record Book. Bobby Isom's final day of a fine career was one of his best: 31 carries for 178 yards and the first two touchdowns, which virtually decided the day's activities. He departs with a record of 220 carries this season, breaking the nine-game record held by Walt Snickenberger, and with 1,559 yards rushing, despite an injury-plagued junior year. The figure puts him seventh on the Tigers' all-time list, which Hank Bjorkland tops with 2,362.

Princeton drove 74 yards in 13 plays the first time it got the ball, Isom carrying eight times and scoring through the middle from two yards out. The Tigers launched another drive before the first period ended, reaching the end zone again at 2:48 of the second quarter when Isom raced the final nine yards untouched on the draw play.

The 14-0 half-time lead was doubled in the third quarter, sophomore Fred Rosenberg--Isom's probable replacement next year--getting the first TD on a short burst through left tackle and Kirby Lockhart finding slotback Glenn Robinson all alone in the end zone for a 22-yard pass. The reserves then beat the Cornell subs in the final quarter 6-0, when sophomore Jeff Pyros skirted left end from four yards out on fourth down.

Somewhat surprisingly, Cornell in its first appearance here under Bob Blackman played a miserable game. Its starting quarterback, Jim Hofher, was 2 for 10 passing; its regular punter, Jeff Supulski, shanked all four of his efforts for a 24-yard average that proved very costly, and the defense allowed Princeton to run up its greatest margin over an opponent since the Tigers whipped Penn, 42-0, in 1969.

Blackman's affinity for trying the unexpected backfired loudly twice: a fake punt and attempted run on a 4th-and-24 situation was smothered, putting the Tigers in good position for their second touchdown; and a double reverse capped by a pass from behind the goal line was intercepted. Rebuilding football at Ithaca, where four games have been won in the last three years, will apparently require considerable time, even with Blackman in charge.

SPORTS FANS I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you By John Bernard

Did you know there was once a college football team that not only lost 39 consecutive games, but was outscored 890 to 0 during that stretch! ... According to NCAA records, St. Paul's Poly of Virginia lost 39 straight between 1948 and 1953 and was outscored 890 - 0.

Here's an oddity from this football season ... there are only two major-college football teams who have the nickname of Owls--and look what happened to those two teams on Sept. 24 this year ... Pitt beat the Temple Owls 76-0, and LSU beat the Rice Owls that same day, 77-0 ... It was not a good day for teams named Owls.

Has a sophomore ever come close to winning the Heisman Trophy as the best college football player in the country? Answer is yes ... Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis — both sophomores — tied for second in the voting for the 1944 Heisman ... That's the closest any sophomores ever came.

Hockey Season Opens Wednesday in Baker Rink
Rugged Schedule Faces New Coach Jim Higgins

TRI-CAPTAINS: For the first time in Princeton hockey history (77 years), three players will serve as the team's leaders. All forwards, they are John Van Sicien, Frank Techar and Bill Tresham.

Jim Higgins, Princeton's new hockey coach by way of Boston University (his alma mater), Dartmouth and Brown (freshman level) and Colgate (varsity coach for two years), has one thing going for him. Taking over a team which last year was 3-21-1, he will almost certainly post a better record.

Higgins has, however, a number of things that are not going for him. One is the setting--Baker Rink is very likely the nation's oldest college hockey facility, this year marking its 55th anniversary. The ice-making equipment is inadequate, warm fall days cut into practice time because of interior fog and a rough surface, and seating facilities are just plain uncomfortable.

Fans who love the sport--and Princeton has a hard core of better than a thousand faithful "rink rats"--will go, rain or sleet, win or lose. But hundreds more will think in terms of the rough planks labelled "seats" and the frequently poor visibility--and stay home. A long-range plan to renovate the building, or to build a new one, is in the talking stage, and the necessary funds are even farther away than that.

An Untriendly Schedule. A more immediate barrier to a successful season is the current schedule--one that has been so badly planned that it would create major problems for a team defending an Ivy League title, let alone one that will improve on last year's record if it manages to win four games. From this Wednesday's opener against Merrimack College until February 2, the Tigers will play just three home games and 11 on the road. Every one of their six Ivy opponents will be faced away from home before they come here, game alignment that has to be without precedent in the hundreds upon hundreds of league schedules arranged for teams in Ivy action through the years.

Eventually, there are nine straight games at home in February. "It is" says Higgins matter-of-factly, "the worst schedule in the East."

Because Princeton has not in the post-World War II era been a hockey-playing college (last championship in 1953), manpower here is invariably thin. There is, for example, no backup goalie to Fred Cherne. Two other players are slotted at the position, a senior without a minute of varsity experience and a freshman who isn't yet ready to play at the varsity level. The season was a week away from opening when Cherne's forehead was creased by a puck that bit near the eye slot in his mask and 13 stitches were administered. "Don't worry, Coach," he said. "I'll be ready Wednesday."

One other, much more serious injury has already cut into the available personnel. Higgins hopes the player fate singled out isn't symbolic of his luck this winter--he lost last year's top goal-producer, center Trevor Kilborn, when the senior from Winnipeg crashed into the boards in early scrimmage action. The fractured collarbone is expected to keep him out until early next month.

The Early Lineups. Wednesday night (7:30), Higgins will start a line with Craig Tresham (recovered from running a nail through his foot) at center, with his brother, Bill, one of the tri-captains, and Dave Tweedy, a freshman, on the wings. Another freshman, Terry Seaman, will work behind the blue line with senior Henry Lane.

Other combinations up front include Frank Techar and John Van Sicien, the other tri-captains, with freshman George Favaloro; freshmen Jim Farrell and Gary MacLellan and sophomore Cliff Lawrick. Sophomore Peter Delorey and junior Dave Kelley are another defensive pair--in all, there will be four lines and six defensemen in operation.

Three Ivy games are on tap after the opener with Merrimack--Yale Saturday, Brown next Tuesday and Dartmouth on Saturday, the 26th. Merrimack, more than incidentally, is the Division II champion, and comes to Baker Rink with a 20-2-1 record compiled last year against opponents in that division.

For the complete 1977-78 schedule, see pages 8B and 9B.

CANADIANS BOW

To Tigers in Basketball. Last year, Frank Sowinski, the Princeton basketball team's 6-5 forward, hit on 63 percent of his shots to rank fifth in the nation. This season, he began with a 77 percent performance (10 for 13) as the Tigers whipped Canada's National B team, 102 to 70, Saturday night in Jadwin Gymnasium.

It was just an exhibition contest, and the first game of the regular season is not until a week from Saturday against Colgate (see pages 8B and 9B for complete schedule.) But Tiger fans were happy to see that "the Polish Rifle" has his eye on the basket early.

The Orange and Black moved easily to a 60-35 halftime lead as Sowinski popped in 17 of his total in the first 20 minutes. Bob Roma, the 6-8 center, and Tom Young, his 6-11 replacement, gave the victors 34 points at this position with respective totals of 20 and 14. Guard Bill Omeltchenko added 15 from the back court.

HUN TIES GERMANTOWN

In Soccer Finale. The Hun School soccer team tied Penn-Jersey League champions Germantown Friends, 2-2, last week in its final game of the season. "We gave it great effort," said first-year coach Jack Huckel, who guided the Red Raiders to a 4-11-2 overall record and 3-2-2 league mark.

"Not great, but not a bad year," said Huckel, assessing the season. Hun lost a majority of its games by one-goal margins and counted Princeton High School among its victims. Huckel loses eight starters through graduation, including this year's high scorer, striker Chris Dollard, who finished with 10 goals and one assist.

Against Germantown Friday, after falling behind 1-0, Hun shocked the visitors by taking a 2-1 lead on goals by right halfback Mike Chaiko and Eduardo Riveiro. They were the first goals of the season for each player.

"We really had the pressure on them in the last period, the kids really worked hard," commented Huckel.

AT LAST, A PRECISION ENGINEERED GERMAN LUXURY CAR WITHOUT THE LUXURY PRICE.

If you've always wanted to own a fine German luxury sedan, but haven't felt like paying the high price, you now have an alternative.

The Revolutionary new Audi 5000.

Like the Mercedes 280SE ($21,687)* and the BMW 530i ($13,620)* the Audi offers all the precision engineering, luxury and craftsmanship American drivers have come to expect from fine German sedans.

But unlike Mercedes and BMW, the Audi 5000's price is a modest $9,195*.

On top of that, the new Audi gives you engineering features you just can't get from the other two. Like front-wheel-drive for superb traction under any driving condition. And the world's first five-cylinder gasoline engine — a unique powerplant that combines the smoothness and performance of six cylinders with the economy of four.

Can an automobile with such a modest price ever hope to seriously compete with such fine machinery as Mercedes and BMW? Well, consider this: In Germany (The home of Mercedes and BMW), the Audi 5000 is already the best-selling car in its class.

INTRODUCING THE $9,195* AUDI 5000.

PDS Soccer Team Ends First Unbeaten Season

THE ONE THAT WON IT: A shot by Jono Rush sails over the outstretched hand of the Montclair goalie and into the goal for the only score of the day giving PDS a 1-0 win in the finals of the state tournament Saturday.

HEADS UP PLAY: Panthers' Jay Nusblatt and two Montclair defenders go up for the ball near the losers' goal.

(Photo by Roger Fried)

The Princeton Day soccer team climaxed a season of superlatives with something less than a superb performance Saturday, but managed nevertheless to fulfill its season-long dream.

With their first undefeated season hanging in the balance, plus a second straight state title in the Prep "B" division, the Panthers squeezed out a 1-0 triumph over a fired up Montclair team. Although the victory was almost a foregone conclusion, it was much more difficult to achieve than expected.

This one sub-par performance will be forgotten when matched against the rest of what the Blue and White achieved. It ran through its regular schedule with 11 wins and two ties (Pingry and Lawrenceville), plus three post-season contests, registering 10 shutouts. PDS scored 54 goals to just nine for the opposition.

Coach Tom DeVito feels it is the best team ever to play the sport at the school, and there have been plenty of good ones in the past. In the last six years alone, Princeton Day has won the state title four times. Even taking the A division into consideration, Lawrenceville and possibly Pingry are the only two schools in the state, that can match PDS.

Conditions Poor. A bright sunny Saturday did not give a true indication of the conditions underfoot. The Princeton Day field had never really dried out from the rains earlier in the week, and the slippery turf was a major problem for both teams. But Princeton Day had a greater problem to overcome. Its easy victory over Gill-St. Bernards on Wednesday plus the knowledge that it had whipped Montclair 4-1 earlier in the season both served to make the Panthers think this would be a piece of cake.

DeVito put it bluntly, "We were cocky and overconfident. Montclair played good aggressive soccer and we always seemed to be a step behind on the wet field. We didn't control the middle."

Playing primarily a defensive game, Montclair pinned its hopes on scoring on a break-away, and it got its chance three times in the game, but goalie Tony Dell, who split the time in the nets with John Rodgers, stopped each one. Montclair only had two other shots.

PDS, for its part, had a hard time getting started. Mike Walters had two men always on him whenever the ball came near and did not have much luck. The first half was scoreless, and Montclair's chances for achieving a major upset grew larger.

Finally, with five minutes left in the third period, Larry Pierson had a fine throw-in from the side-lines tight in front of the goal. Walters managed to head the ball out to Jono Rush who was alone about 20 yards out. His shot sailed into the upper righthand corner, and PDS had the one goal it needed.

Shortly after that co-captain Andy Sanford was knocked out of the game with a concussion, but the Panthers' depth served them well as it had all season. Joe Lapsley moved over to sweeperback and Dave McCord moved from halfback to wing fullback. The PDS defense had another good day.

Wednesday's game was just barely a contest for the Panthers, even with Jay Nusblatt out. Walters pumped in four goals and Tom Gates, Nusblatt's replacement, got his first of the season. The PDS defense barely got to play with the ball.

Soccer Team in Playoffs

For the first time in 39 years, Princeton's soccer team has earned a berth in the NCAA regional tournament. The Tigers (11-4) will play Philadelphia Textile this Wednesday at 1:15 on Bedford Field.

Their 11th victory, largest number in the history of the sport here, was scored last week over Delaware by 1-0. On Saturday, however, the Orange and Black fell before Cornell, 3-1, in the game that gave the Ivy title to the Red. It was Cornell's 10th straight victory over the Tigers, who last won the league championship in 1960.

Walters ended his career in soccer at PDS with 64 goals, 28 coming this season. He also had 12 assists this fall. Nusblatt had six goals and 21 assists.

Obviously Walters' scoring prowess will be missed next season, but don't count the Panthers out of anything. A strong nucleus is returning, and DeVito will have his pick of several good players coming up from a jayvee squad that finished 12-2.

Soccer at Princeton Day should enjoy continued success for many years to come.

TRENTON FINAL FOE For Faltering Little Tigers.

"It's been a tough year; I don't know what to say," said Princeton High football coach Jim Beachell last week, after he watched his team give a lacklustre performance against Notre Dame, losing a 9-0 decision.

It wasn't just dropping its fifth game — thereby assuring a losing season — what had to hurt Beachell was that his team was never in the game. Even basic blocking and tackling seemed beyond the Little Tigers.

The end of this disappointing season will come Saturday when PHS will meet Trenton High in Trenton at 1:30. Physically, Trenton has one of the biggest teams in the county, which just goes to prove that size isn't everything. In their last start, the Tornadoes were edged, 7-6, by Ewing, as their record dropped to 2-5-1.

"They've changed their offense at least three times this year so I don't know what to expect," said Beachell. Trenton's biggest problem — one shared by PHS — has been an inability to generate an offense.

Princeton has won its last two outings against Trenton, both times coming from behind in the fourth period to grab a dramatic win. Beachell would like to make it three in a row if only because that last one is the one you have to live with the rest of the year.

Confusing Start. The PHS-Notre Dame game Saturday began in confusion. The Irish were expecting the Little Tigers to show up at 11. PHS had a 1:30 starting time on its schedule. Although there was an attempt to settle for a compromise 1 p.m. kickoff, the actual starting time was 1:17.

There was nothing confusing, however, about the way the Irish took control of the game from the very beginning.

Starting from its own 38 after the opening kickoff, ND drove the remaining 62 yards in 11 plays. Lou Toto scored from two yards out with 8:26 left in the period. One of the big plays in the drive was a 21-yard pass from quarterback Skip Faherty to Dan Schwartz, the only pass Faherty was to complete in 10 attempts. Faherty's extra point attempt was deflected by Karim El-Meligi.

PHS, for its part, managed one first down in the opening period. ND erupted again when Dan Montgomery squirted loose for a 47 - yard gain to the PHS 13. After three running plays, the Irish found themselves back on the 16 but Faherty kicked a 26-yard field goal to complete the scoring for the day.

Princeton's offensive line blocked as if the season was already over. As a result, Barry Turner, its best offensive runner, was held in check, gaining 48 yards in 19 carries. Fullback Keith Wadsworth was held to under 50 yards in 13 rushes.

The passing by quarterback Tom Seiler was ineffective: 17 yards on three completions in 15 attempts and two interceptions. One of the busiest Little Tigers was punter Dan Alcazar, who had to kick seven times.

1978 CO-CAPTAINS: Greg Beuman (left), who plays right guerd, end Bob Ehrlich, e linebacker, have been named captains of next yeer's Princeton football team. Both sre two-year lettermen.

Wake Up, Blue! Midway in the final period, a PHS player yelled from the sidelines, "Come on, Blue, wake up! You're better than this." They were — in other games. But not this day.

PHS came closest to averting the shutout when Peter Gorman recovered an Irish fumble on the ND 42. Seiler passed nine yards to Chris Cahill for his second completion and Wadsworth ran for a first down to the 29. A pass to Chris McDonald and another carry by Wadsworth took the Little Tigers to the ND 17 with 1:24 left to play. On the next play, Seiler's pass was intercepted in the end zone by Notre Dame's Cliff Jones.

There was a touch of irony in defeat for PHS. The game's outstanding rusher, sophomore Bill Perna, who gained 137 yards in 17 carries — eight yards every time he handled the ball — is a Princeton resident. So, too, is ND starting lineman Bob Mangone. How Beachell could have used them both!

As a result of the loss, PHS

The Peugeot 604 SL gives you comfort and roadability the Cadillac Seville can't deliver.

To experience the superior riding comfort and roadability of the Peugeot 604, you have to drive it yourself. When you do, you'll discover a level of satisfaction the Cadillac Seville can't provide.

Smoother ride
Unlike Seville, the Peugeot 604 has McPherson struts for extra-long vertical wheel travel. And oversized shock absorbers designed and patented by Peugeot.

Better handling
Four-wheel independent suspension and weight distribution that's nearly perfect give the 604 better road holding characteristics than the Seville.

Tighter cornering
The 604's turning circle is 4½ feet smaller in diameter than Seville's.

Better braking
In 70 to 0 tests, the Peugeot 604 stopped short of Seville by over ten feet.*

More precise steering
Unlike the Seville, the Peugeot 604 has power-assisted rack and pinion steering, so you can park with ease without losing the feel of the road at highway speeds.

Lower price
The Seville starts at around $13,350. A comparably equipped Peugeot 604 SL lists for about $1,600 less.†

Naturally both cars give you comfortable interiors. But for a much lower price, the Peugeot 604 gives you the total driving comfort only a true European grand touring sedan can deliver.

New Synthetic Track (Cost $300,000) Will Be Installed in Palmer Stadium

Track meets in Palmer Stadium, which made international headlines more than 40 years ago when world records were broken, may again draw crowds next year when the ancient cinderbed is replaced with a brand new synthetic surface.

Work was scheduled to begin this week on installation of a Rubaturf track, made by Skega Sports of Sweden. It is expected to be ready for use next spring, when the $300,000 project is completed.

Princeton University coach Larry Ellis traveled to Sweden last summer to inspect various sites where similar tracks have been installed. After having surveyed a dozen different kinds here and abroad, he came away convinced the Rubaturf was the top choice.

Ever since Jadwin Gym opened in 1969, Princeton has had one of the top indoor track facilities in the east. The winter IC4-A meet, long held in Madison Square Garden, was switched to Princeton shortly thereafter and the tartan surface has produced many record - breaking times.

Outdoors, however, it was a completely different story, as the cinders on which Bill Bonthron and Jack Lovelock both broke the existing world records in the mile in July, 1933, slowly deteriorated. Once considered as fine a track as existed in the U.S., it eroded from rain, snow and ice over the years, and eventually proved almost hazardous. Major Princeton meets were often held on Lawrenceville's synthetic track when the Tigers were the hosts, and it has been many years since the Heptagonals, involving the eight Ivy League members, plus Army and Navy, have been staged here.

There is no indication now that the one - time Princeton Invitation Meet, an all - star affair held here for several years prior to World War II, will be revived when the new track is installed. Founded on the interest and enthusiasm created by the original Bonthron - Lovelock duel, the event coincided with June reunions, and often drew upwards of 30,000 spectators.

finished with one Colonial Valley conference win against four setbacks. Notre Dame's overall record climbed to 4-3-1.

PHS IS 5-1 VICTOR

In NJSIAA Soccer. Princeton High soccer coach Ed Beacham called it.

He predicted that his Little Tiger booters would defeat Middlesex Vocational Tech in the first round of the NJSIAA Central Jersy Group 2 state championships because of the better brand of soccer played here in Mercer County. His players proved him a prophet when they scored five goals, two by Pat Gautier, while limiting Middlesex to a single, second - period goal.

Although the game was twice postponed because of poor weather conditions, there was still four inches of rain on half the East Brunswick field. "I never saw a field like that," commented Beacham.

Also scoring for PHS were Ron Celestin, Dan Miller and Pierre Muri. PHS outshot the losers, 28-6.

Beacham also credited his goalie, Sandy Howell, who had seven saves, with a crucial stop on a point blank shot in the second period with PHS ahead, 2-1. "It was the only difficult save he made all day, but it came at the right time," said Beacham.

For the game, Beacham moved Tom Bolster to fullback and Dan Miller to a halfback slot and brought Celestin, the team's leading scorer, back to center forward. "Miller played well," he said. "When he plays high, we always do well."

With the win, PHS raised its record to 9-7-1 and advanced to the second round in the state tournament. Its next opponent will be South Brunswick.

HUN WINS FINALE

For 3-5 Record. "It turned out not so bad after all," said Hun Football coach Dave Leete, after his team squeaked by Admiral Farragut Saturday, 7-6, for its third win in a row. Hun had gotten off to a poor start by losing its first five.

"It was an interesting season," observed Leete. "The kids showed some spirit by not falling apart after losing five in a row. Bobby Cronin (Hun guard and team captain from Princeton) did a good job in leading the team." Hun had to play its entire season with only 21 - 22 varsity players.

In the finale against Farragut, Dave Wheaton scored on a three - yard run and Fred Wollman kicked the extra point to give Hun a 7-0 lead. Chris Peterson scored on a two - yard carry for the home team in the same period. On the conversion attempt, the snap from center was high and the holder, the Farragut quarterback, attempted a pass which fell incomplete. "It's hard to say whether it was a planned two-point play or not," said Leete.

Dwight Hallett, a senior guard and linebacker, led the Hun defense with 11 tackles and five assists. Cronin had six individual tackles and assisted on seven others.

Through graduation, Leete will lose both tackles, end Tom West, center Sal Ammirata, halfback Tom Adams and Brian Lee and Craig Darvin, who shared another running back position. Wheaton returns, as do quarterback E. T. Roach, fullback Matt Roach and both guards.

"I'll need some linemen," said Leete, who will have to pick from a jayvee squad that won only two games. But next year is far away; Leete had two days to savor salvaging the football season. On Tuesday, basketball practice started and he is also head coach in that sport at Hun. One of his players a few years ago, Tony Trani is expected to see action this year as a sophomore guard on the Princeton University team.

ANOTHER RUNG HIGHER

For Michael Hunninghake. Michael Hunninghake of Princeton continues to win in the annual Punt, Pass & Kick competition sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League.

Michael won the area competition last week at Veterans Stadium and as a result has advanced to the semi-finals to be held in Tampa, Florida, on December 18.

Autistic Children

hardware store and the market. They will pull weeds in the yard, rake leaves, run the vacuum. They will be taught how to play.

Always with praise....."You did that very well!"

A Joyous Response. Although fear of human contact is characteristic of autism, many of these children respond joyously to tickling or even cuddling, as a reward – once they have progressed to that point.

Dr. Krants recalls approaching a four-year-old who screamed whenever he was touched. By holding him at the edge of her lap while she allowed him to look at a light, then quietly moving him farther into her lap, she eventually got him to the point where he began asking to sit on a lap.

"Not only that, he began enjoying a rough-house!"

A key element in dealing with autistic children is the involvement of parents. Mothers and fathers attend monthly workshops, go to the school, welcome teachers and therapists into their homes.

"We think our parents are good parents," Dr. Krantz emphasizes. "The parents have a heavy responsibility to provide therapy, and we're teaching them to be therapists. Parents of the boys here at Family Focus, will be encouraged to visit, and boys will go home twice a month."

"We don't subscribe to the early dogma that these kids come from unloving homes with 'refrigerator' mothers. Quite the contrary, we see the parents as loving and sacrificing."

"PARENTS" AND "HOME:" This kitchen, in the pleasant, spacious "Family Focus" home of the Princeton Child Development Institute, will draw the home's five boys, ages eight to 12, when they come in each afternoon from their special schooling at the Institute. At Family Focus, they'll learn the usual family things, like setting the table or helping with dinner or playing ball that most kids absorb without much thought. "Teaching Parents" are Meg and Greg MacDuff (center and right). Dr. Patricia J. Krantz, shown with them, is co-director of Family Focus with Dr. Lynn E. McClannahan.

Parents do not have to pay tuition at the Institute. The state, through the Beadleston Act, assumes full tuition for children five years old or older.

Because there are so many teachers per child at the Institute, state tuition isn't enough, and there is usually a deficit of 40 percent to make up through fund drives. Also, the Institute does training for students at Columbia University, where Dr. Krantz and her associate, Dr. Lynn McClannahan, teach, and this helps financially also.

One parent, Ceil Stern, talks quietly and at length about the deep gratitude she and her family feel toward the Institute. The Sterns have three other children besides ten-year-old Richard, now in his third academic year at the Institute.

"There has been tremendous improvement – socially and academically," Mrs. Stern says with feeling.

"When a child has a particular problem, like toilet training or bathing alone or enduring a shampoo, the staff is always there to help."

A problem may even arise from a joyous occasion. The child who ran upstairs to hide from his birthday party, learned about parties at school, loved the cupcakes and now sings "Happy Birthday!" as loud as anybody, and at home, even helps baby brother blow out the candles.

"The thrust of the whole program," Mrs. Stern points out, "is to enable kids to live at home with their families. It had been impossible for us before. Without this school," she adds softly, "the future would have been very bleak."

THE BEAT GOES ON

For West Windsor Eleven. The West Windsor football team won't soon forget the 1977 season, as gridiron achievements continue to pile up for the Pirates.

Last week's 28-0 victory over Gill - St. Bernards not only increased their record to 6-1-1, it earned the Pirates a berth in the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group 1 state championship playoffs. In addition, WW will win the Colonial Valley Conference title if it tops undefeated Hightstown Saturday in its final regular season game. The two were scheduled to meet this Saturday. However, that showdown will have to wait as both will be engaged in NJSIAA playoff games.

West Windsor will meet Highland Park High School, which has the same 6-1-1 record as WW, in Highland Park on Saturday, while Hightstown will play host to North Brunswick.

Why is all this so remarkable? West Windsor, less than five years old as a school, had never had a winning season in football before.

Gill - St. Bernards was not expected to provide a test for the Pirates and it didn't. The visitors were held to 15 yards total offense, while the home team was getting another 100-yard plus performance from its outstanding fullback, Ron Dilatush.

Dilatush scored one TD on a one - yard plunge. Teammates Chris Gillette, Ralph Barletta and Buzz Schwing also tallied for the victors.
